NEW QUESTION # 45
An architect leads a Catalyst engagement to redesign an electronic retailer's digital marketplace. As part of that effort, the organization is integrating with a single logistics management partner that currently only operates in North, Central, and South Americ a. There are initiatives to expand to global markets in the near future.
The organization wants integrations with the current logistics partner to be implemented as soon as possible to start realizing immediate business value. The architect recognizes that creating solutions that integrate only with the initial logistics partner will create constraints and technical debt for integrations with future logistics partners.
What is the recommended Catalyst approach to handle these out-of-scope future events?

- A. Consider the long-term goal of integrating with multiple global logistics partners as the highest priority and wait until all additional partners have been identified to begin integrations
- B. Balance the short-term goal of integrating with the current logistics partner with the long-term goal of integrating with multiple global logistics partners in the future by architecting and designing the appropriate abstractions for multiple logistics partners while implementing them only for the current partner
- C. Introduce the organization to a new logistics partner that has been successful with previous Catalyst engagements and who will be able to integrate seamlessly with this organization
- D. Consider the short-term goal of integrating with the current logistics partner as the highest priority and implement the required integrations for that partner so value can be realized immediately
