NEW QUESTION # 13

Which of the following searches will return events containing a tag named Privileged?

- A. tag=priv*
- B. tag=Priv*
- C. tag=Priv
- D. tag=privileged

Answer: B

Explanation:

The tag=Priv* search will return events containing a tag named Privileged, as well as any other tag that starts with Priv. The asterisk (*) is a wildcard character that matches zero or more characters. The other searches will not match the exact tag name.

NEW QUESTION # 14

Which is not a comparison operator in Splunk

- A. <=
- B. ?=
- C. >
- D. =
- E. !=

Answer: B

Explanation:

A comparison operator is a symbol that compares two values and returns a Boolean result (true or false)

2. Splunk supports various comparison operators such as <, >, =, !=, <=, >=, IN and LIKE2. However, ?= is not a valid comparison operator in Splunk and will cause a syntax error if used in a search string2. Therefore, option E is correct, while options A, B, C and D are incorrect because they are valid comparison operators in Splunk

NEW QUESTION # 15

When can a pipe follow a macro?

- A. Only when sharing is set to global for the macro.
- B. The current user must own the macro.
- C. A pipe may always follow a macro.
- D. The macro must be defined in the current app.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A macro is a way to save a segment of a search string as a variable and reuse it in other searches2. A macro can be followed by a pipe, which is a symbol that separates commands in a search pipeline2. A pipe may always follow a macro, regardless of who owns the macro, where the macro is defined or how the macro is shared2. For example, if you have a macro called us_sales that returns events from the US region, you can use it in a search like this: us_sales | stats sum(price) by product2. This search will use the macro to filter the events and then calculate the total price for each product2. Therefore, option A is correct, while options B, C and D are incorrect because they are not conditions that affect whether a pipe can follow a macro.

NEW QUESTION # 16

Which of the following statements about tags is true?

- A. Tags are searched by using the syntax tag :: <fieldname>.
- B. Tags are created at index time.
- C. Tags can make your data more understandable.
- D. Tags are case insensitive.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Tags are a knowledge object that allow you to assign an alias to one or more field values . Tags are applied to events at search time and can be used as search terms or filters .

Tags can help you make your data more understandable by replacing cryptic or complex field values with meaningful names . For example, you can tag the value 200 in the status field as success, or tag the value 404 as not_found .

NEW QUESTION # 17
