NEW QUESTION # 140

Which configuration supports separate Amazon S3 buckets for data ingestion and activation?

- A. Dedicated S3 data sources in activation setup
- B. Dedicated S3 data sources in Data Cloud setup
- C. Multiple S3 connectors in Data Cloud setup
- D. Separate user credentials for data stream and activation target

Answer: B

Explanation:

To support separate Amazon S3 buckets for data ingestion and activation, you need to configure dedicated S3 data sources in Data Cloud setup. Data sources are used to identify the origin and type of the data that you ingest into Data Cloud¹. You can create different data sources for each S3 bucket that you want to use for ingestion or activation, and specify the bucket name, region, and access credentials². This way, you can separate and organize your data by different criteria, such as brand, region, product, or business unit³. The other options are incorrect because they do not support separate S3 buckets for data ingestion and activation. Multiple S3 connectors are not a valid configuration in Data Cloud setup, as there is only one S3 connector available⁴. Dedicated S3 data sources in activation setup are not a valid configuration either, as activation setup does not require data sources, but activation targets⁵. Separate user credentials for data stream and activation target are not sufficient to support separate S3 buckets, as you also need to specify the bucket name and region for each data source². NEW QUESTION # 141

Which of these is present in Identity Resolution Summary?

- A. Unified Individuals
- B. All the above
- C. Last Processing Status
- D. Matched Individuals

Answer: B

The Identity Resolution Summary page shows all the above information: Unified Individuals, Last Processing Status, and Matched Individuals. Unified Individuals are the profiles that Data Cloud creates by linking multiple source profiles based on match rules. Last Processing Status shows the date and time of the last identity resolution run and whether it was successful or not. Matched Individuals shows the number and percentage of source profiles that were matched to a unified individual profile. Reference: Identity

NEW QUESTION # 142

What is the correct formula to display the value of the raw data column of "RetailPrice" plus an additional 5 percent?

- A. `SELECT(['RetailPrice']*1.05)`
- B. `sourceField['RetailPrice']*1.05`
- C. `SELECT(['retailprice']*1.05)`
- D. `sourceField['retailprice']*1.05`

Answer: D

Explanation:

This is the correct formula to display the value of the raw data column of "RetailPrice" plus an additional 5 percent. The formula uses the sourceField function to access the raw data column, and then multiplies it by 1.05 to add 5 percent. The formula is case-sensitive, so the column name must match exactly with the raw data column name. Reference: [Formula Editor], [sourceField Function]
