A former line supervisor from the Financial Services Department has completed six months of a two-year development opportunity with the internal audit activity (IAA). She is assigned to a team that will audit the organization's payroll function, which is managed by the Human Resources Department. Which of the following statements is most relevant regarding her independence and objectivity with respect to the payroll audit?

- A. She may participate, but she must be supervised by the auditor in charge.
- B. She may participate, because she did not previously work in the Human Resources Department.
- C. She may participate for training purposes, to build her knowledge of the IAA.
- D. She may participate, but only after she has completed one year with the IAA.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 563

When comparing an organization's current performance to that of the prior year, an internal auditor found that:

-Total labor costs had increased. -More overtime costs had been incurred. -The total number of workers had increased. -Net income was 10 percent lower. - Based solely on this information, which of the following is a valid conclusion?

- A. Total labor hours increased.
- B. Worker efficiency decreased.
- C. Net income per worker decreased.
- D. Wage rates increased.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 564

In which of the following ways can a chief audit executive demonstrate to the board that the internal audit activity collectively possesses all of the skills needed to complete its annual goals?

- A. Involve board members in hiring activities and request advice.
- B. Require all internal audit staff to complete the same training course on a general audit subject.
- C. Require senior auditors to obtain a professional certification.
- D. Provide a competency assessment of the internal audit staff.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 565

Which of the following frauds is most likely to occur in the accounts payable function?

- A. Certain costs are capitalized, rather than expensed.
- B. Bad debt expense is intentionally omitted from the financial statements.
- C. Fictitious vendors are entered into the system, possibly resulting in improper disbursements.
- D. A related party receives benefits not appropriate in an arm's-length transaction.

Answer: C

Explanation:

In the accounts payable function, the most likely fraud scenario involves the creation of fictitious vendors.

This fraud can lead to improper disbursements where payments are made to non-existent entities, effectively siphoning money out of the organization. This type of fraud is easier to execute in accounts payable compared to other functions because it can involve relatively straightforward manipulations of vendor master files and payment processes. Such schemes can result in significant financial losses and are a common concern for internal auditors reviewing accounts payable controls. References:
