- A. Authorization letter
- B. Shared responsibilities
- C. Terms of service
- D. Testing window

Answer: D

Explanation:
The rules of engagement define the scope, limitations, and conditions under which a penetration test is conducted.
Testing Window: This specifies the time frame during which the penetration testing activities are authorized to occur. It is a crucial part of the rules of engagement to ensure the testing does not disrupt business operations and is conducted within agreed-upon hours.
Terms of Service: This generally refers to the legal agreement between a service provider and user, not specific to penetration testing engagements.
Authorization Letter: This provides formal permission for the penetration tester to perform the assessment but is not a component of the rules of engagement.
Shared Responsibilities: This refers to the division of security responsibilities between parties, often seen in cloud service agreements, but not specifically a function of the rules of engagement.

- A. DREAD
- B. OSSTMM
- C. CI/CD
- D. MITRE ATT&CK

Answer: A

Explanation:
The DREAD model is a risk assessment framework used to evaluate and prioritize the security risks of an application. It stands for Damage potential, Reproducibility, Exploitability, Affected users, and Discoverability.
* Understanding DREAD:
* Purpose: Provides a structured way to assess and prioritize risks based on their potential impact and likelihood.
* Components:
* Damage Potential: The extent of harm that an exploit could cause.
* Reproducibility: How easily the exploit can be reproduced.
* Exploitability: The ease with which the vulnerability can be exploited.
* Affected Users: The number of users affected by the exploit.
* Discoverability: The likelihood that the vulnerability will be discovered.
* Usage in Threat Modeling:
* Evaluation: Assign scores to each DREAD component to assess the overall risk.
* Prioritization: Higher scores indicate higher risks, helping prioritize remediation efforts.
* Process:
* Identify Threats: Enumerate potential threats to the application.
* Assess Risks: Use the DREAD model to evaluate each threat.
* Prioritize: Focus on addressing the highest-scoring threats first.
* References from Pentesting Literature:
