Which event should be triggered when user facing info, warning or error messages need to be displayed on a Visualforce page?

- A. displayPageMessage
- B. pageMessage
- C. displayMessage
- D. showMessage

Answer: B

Explanation:
The event that should be triggered when user facing info, warning or error messages need to be displayed on a Visualforce page is pageMessage. This event is triggered by the displayPageMessage method of the CCRZ.util class, which is a utility class that provides various helper methods for common tasks. The event can be used to display a message on the page with a specified type, title, and text. For example, CCRZ.util.displayPageMessage('error', 'Oops!', 'Something went wrong.') will trigger the pageMessage event and display an error message on the page. What did the developer forget to assign to the imported products?

- A. Account
- B. Entitlement policy
- C. Storefront
- D. Promotion

Answer: C

Explanation:
:A developer has written the logic to import products from an enterprise resource planning (ERP) platform into B2B storefront products. The imported products are in Salesforce, but they are not visible in the store. The developer forgot to assign the storefront to the imported products.A storefront is a logical grouping of products, categories, and price books that defines what products are available for purchase in a B2B Commerce site1.A product must be associated with at least one storefront to be visible in the store2.The developer can use the Data Loader to insert or update the storefront assignments for the imported products3. Option A, Option C, and Option D are incorrect because they are not required for the products to be visible in the store.An entitlement policy is a set of rules that determines the availability of products based on the buyer's account, contract, or order history4. An account is a record that represents a business or person involved in a business transaction. A promotion is a marketing tool that offers discounts or incentives to buyers. These are optional features that can be used to customize the B2B Commerce experience, but they are not necessary for the products to be visible in the store.Reference:

NEW QUESTION # 104

A developer has the task to bring some historical data into an org. The data must reside in the org, but cannot be populated in standard or custom objects. The customer is fine with developers building Ul components to surface this data on a case-by-case basis.

Which option allows a developer to meet all of these requirements?

- A. Big objects
- B. Lightning Canvas
- C. Lightning Out
- D. External objects

Answer: D

Explanation:
To bring some historical data into an org, the data must reside in the org, but cannot be populated in standard or custom objects, and the customer is fine with developers building UI components to surface this data on a case-by-case basis, the option that allows a developer to meet all of these requirements is big objects. Big objects are a type of object that can store and manage massive amounts of data on the Salesforce platform. Big objects can store up to billions of records and are accessible through a subset of SOQL or custom user interfaces. Big objects are not subject to the same storage limits or performance issues as standard or custom objects and are suitable for storing historical or archived data that does not need to be updated frequently. Big objects can be defined using Metadata API or declaratively in Setup. Lightning Canvas is not an option that allows a developer to meet all of these requirements, as it is a framework that allows developers to integrate third-party applications into Salesforce. Lightning Canvas does not store data in the org, but rather displays data from external sources using an iframe. External objects are not an option either, as they are a type of object that map to data stored outside Salesforce. External objects do not store data in the org, but rather access data from external systems using OData services. Lightning Out is not an option either, as it is a feature that allows developers to use Lightning components outside Salesforce. Lightning Out does not store data in the org, but rather renders components on external web pages or applications. NEW QUESTION # 105
What is true regarding adding more Configuration Settings to Salesforce B2B Commerce?

- A. Select "New"in your storefront's Configuration Settings and create a custom setting.
- B. Configuration settings can only be extended through API's
- C. Metadata can be added to existing modules, but you cannot add new modules.
- D. More modules and metadata can be added to Salesforce B2B Commerce.

Answer: D

Explanation:
More modules and metadata can be added to Salesforce B2B Commerce by creating custom configuration settings. Configuration settings are custom settings that store various values and parameters that affect the functionality and appearance of the storefront. They are organized into modules, which group related settings together. To create a custom configuration setting, the user needs to create a custom setting record in Salesforce and specify its module, name, value, and description. The custom setting will then appear in CCAdmin under the specified module. Salesforce B2B Commerce and D2C Commerce Developer Guide,Configuration Settings

NEW QUESTION # 106
What are two advantages of using Lightning Data Service?

- A. Communicates with other components
- B. Converts between different data formats
- C. Combines and de-duplicates server calls
- D. Loads record data progressively

Answer: C,D

Explanation:
Two advantages of using Lightning Data Service are that it combines and de-duplicates server calls and that it loads record data progressively. Lightning Data Service is a service that provides access to Salesforce data and metadata in Lightning web components. It optimizes performance and minimizes server round trips by caching data on the client side and sharing data across components. It also combines and de-duplicates server calls by batching requests for the same record or object and returning a single response. It also loads record data progressively by returning available cached data first and then fetching updated data from the server asynchronously. Communicating with other components and converting between different data formats are not advantages of using Lightning Data Service, as they are not related to its functionality or features.
