You should be able to differentiate b/w volume excess & volume depletion (causes, clinical manifestations, general treatment approaches). Please review the information on sodium and potassium = normal ranges, food sources, causes, clinical manifestations for hypo/hyper states; nothing on treatment of these imbalances.

Lab Values = please review the following lab values in terms of description (ie: what does hemoglobin measure?), adult reference range, and common reasons for increases/decreased in the values: hemoglobin, hematocrit, platelets, WBC count (nothing on the specific types of leukocytes listed in the CBC differential - we'll revisit those in the Spring), BUN and creatinine.
