HCLSoftware Certified Administrator- HWA 10.2 Sample Questions (Q136-Q141):

NEW QUESTION # 136

Which global option enables automatic activation of new security domains in the security file when created via Dynamic Workload Console?

- A. `enRoleBasedSecurityFileCreation`
- B. `enDomainAutoAdd`
- C. `enAutoSecFileUpdate`
- D. `autoActivateDomains`
- E. `securityDomainGlobal`

Answer: A

Explanation:

Setting `enRoleBasedSecurityFileCreation` to `yes` automatically activates newly created security domains in the centralized security file, streamlining role-based access control management when domains are defined through the console.

NEW QUESTION # 137

Scenario: An administrator configures SSO with OIDC in HCL Workload Automation 10.2 DWC, but mobile Self-Service apps fail to authenticate automatically. What additional configurations enable seamless SSO propagation? (Select all that apply)

- A. Configure the same OIDC provider and client on `engine server.xml`
- B. Use SAML 2.0 trust association interceptor
- C. Ensure LTPA keys are shared for fallback
- D. Set `enSSO=true` in DWC properties
- E. Enable `jwtConsumer` for token validation on backend

Answer: A,E

Explanation:

Configure the same OIDC provider and client on `engine server.xml` aligns authentication realms. Enable `jwtConsumer` for token validation on backend allows JWTbased propagation for app sessions.

NEW QUESTION # 138

Typical HCL Workload Automation 10.2 installation on Ubuntu 22.04 LTS for DevOps encounters "AppArmor profile denied" blocking netman port 31114 bind despite ufw disabled. `aa-status` shows HWA profiles in enforce mode. Production requires dynamic agent connectivity. Which AppArmor configuration using precise profile syntax permits server installation networking?

- A. `/etc/apparmor.d/disable/hwa-monman; update-apparmor-cache; systemctl restart monman`
- B. `echo "/usr/sbin/monman|" > /etc/apparmor.d/usr.lib.hwa.monman; echo "network tcp," >> profile; apparmor_parser -r`
- C. `ln -s /etc/apparmor.d/usr/sbin.netman /etc/apparmor.d/disable/; apparmor_parser -R`
- D. `aa-complain /usr/lib/hwa/TWS/monman; systemctl restart snap.apparmor.hwa; aa-enforce /usr/sbin/netman`

Answer: B

Explanation:

Ubuntu 22.04 AppArmor blocks server netman requiring custom profile `/etc/apparmor.d/usr.lib.hwa.monman` with `network tcp`, permitting outbound 31114 connections for dynamic agents while maintaining LSM confinement. `aa-complain` logs denials without permitting networking, `disable/` symlinks break upgrades, `/usr/sbin/netman` path incorrect for snap-installed HWA.

NEW QUESTION # 139

Scenario: Backup master promoted via `switchmgr`, but event-driven actions delayed. To switch event processor without full `JnextPlan`, use?

- A. `planman deploy -switchevt`
- B. `coman "switchevtproc NEWMASTER"`
- C. `switchmgr evtproc;NEWMASTER`
- D. `switcheventprocessor NEWMASTER`
- E. `optman change evtproc=NEWMASTER`

Answer: D

Explanation:

`switcheventprocessor NEWMASTER` independently transfers event processing to the new master post-`switchmgr`.

NEW QUESTION # 140

What is the default data directory structure introduced in HCL Workload Automation 10.2 to simplify administration and backup on UNIX systems, and how can it be customized during installation?

- A. Default in user's home directory; set with `-inst_dir` only.

- B. Default TWA_home/TWSDATA for server and agent components; customizable at installation time using --data_dir.
- C. Data split across /var and /etc; not customizable.
- D. Data in TWA_home/properties only; no customization needed.
- E. All data in TWA_home/TWS; customizable with --data_dir parameter.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Starting with recent versions including 10.2, HCL Workload Automation separates runtime data (logs, configuration) into a dedicated <data_dir> by default set to TWA_home/TWSDATA for server and agent components (and DWC_DATA for the console). This facilitates easier backups and administration on UNIX. During installation, you can customize this location by specifying the --data_dir argument to point to a different path, or revert to older behavior by setting it to the main installation directory if preferred.
