EC-COUNCIL EC Council Certified Incident Handler (ECIH v3) Sample Questions (Q97-Q102):

NEW QUESTION # 97

The state of incident response preparedness that enables an organization to maximize its potential to use digital evidence while minimizing the cost of an investigation is called:

- A. Digital Forensic Analysis
- B. Computer Forensics
- C. Forensic Readiness
- D. Digital Forensic Policy

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 98

Mr. Smith is a lead incident responder of a small financial enterprise, which has a few branches in Australia. Recently, the company suffered a massive attack losing $5MM through an inter-banking system.

After an in-depth investigation, it was found that the incident occurred because 6 months ago the attackers penetrated the network through a minor vulnerability and maintained the access without any user being aware of it. They then tried to delete users' fingerprints and performed a lateral movement to the computer of a person with privileges in the inter-banking system. The attackers finally gained access and performed the fraudulent transactions.

Based on the above scenario, identify the most accurate kind of attack.

- A. APT attack
- B. Phishing
- C. Denial-of-service attack
- D. Ransomware attack

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 99

Which of the following are malicious software programs that infect computers and corrupt or delete the data on them?

- A. Worms
- B. Trojans
- C. Virus
- D. Spyware

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 100

If a hacker cannot find any other way to attack an organization, they can influence an employee or a disgruntled staff member. What type of threat is this?

- A. Identity theft
- B. Phishing attack
- C. Insider attack
- D. Footprinting

Answer: C

Explanation:

If a hacker influences an employee or a disgruntled staff member to gain access to an organization's resources or sensitive information, this is classified as an insider attack. Insider attacks are perpetrated by individuals within the organization, such as employees, contractors, or business associates, who have inside information concerning the organization's security practices, data, and computer systems. The threat from insiders can be intentional, as in the case of a disgruntled employee seeking to harm the organization, or unintentional, where an employee is manipulated or coerced by external parties without realizing the implications of their actions.

Phishing attacks, footprinting, and identity theft represent different types of cybersecurity threats where the attacker's method or objective differs from that of insider attacks. References: The ECIH v3 certification program addresses various types of threats, including insider threats, emphasizing the importance of recognizing and mitigating risks posed by individuals within the organization.
