NEW QUESTION # 41

Cloud Kicks' Salesforce org has multiple currencies enabled. This company's business intelligence team uses CRM Analytics to build a dataflow/recipe that creates a dataset, "OpportunityDataSet", which is populated with data extracted from Opportunity. One of the extracted fields is the standard field, Amount.

Which currency will the Amount values be shown in "OpportunityDataSet"?

- A. the connected user's currency
- B. In the integration user's currency
- C. In the currency that is set on the "currency" attribute.

Answer: B

Explanation:

When a dataset like "OpportunityDataSet" is populated through a dataflow or recipe in CRM Analytics, the currency values (such as the standard field "Amount") will be displayed in the currency of the integration user unless there is specific currency conversion logic set up within the dataset or recipe. The integration user is the user whose credentials are used to run the dataflow and extract data, and their currency setting will dictate how numeric currency values are displayed unless overridden.

NEW QUESTION # 42

A consultant wants to understand what the important predictors are in a model. Where is this information found?

- A. Model Deployment Wizard
- B. Einstein Recommendations
- C. Model Settings

Answer: C

Explanation:

The important predictors of a model in CRM Analytics can typically be found under the Model Settings. This area provides detailed information about the configuration and the inputs (predictors) used to train the model. Insights into which predictors have the most significant impact on the model's outcomes can be gleaned from this section, enabling a deeper understanding of the model's internal workings and the factors driving predictions.

Universal Containers has a dashboard for sales managers. They need the ability to visualize the number of Closed Won opportunities by month, quarter, or year, and then display the result in a single chart. A CRM Analytics consultant creates a custom query to display three values:

NEW QUESTION # 45

What is a benefit of introducing a second local connector?

- A. Better performance by syncing data according to the refresh necessities
- B. Better deployment management between sandboxes and production environment
- C. Better maintenance by having a connector per recipe
