IIC Principles and Practice of Insurance Sample Questions (Q21-Q26):

NEW QUESTION # 21

Which type of insurance company has the same capital structure as any other capital enterprise?

- A. Stock company
- B. Factory mutual company
- C. Co-operative company
- D. Captive company

Answer: A

Explanation:

A stock insurance company operates with the same capital structure as other conventional for-profit corporations. Ownership is represented by shares of stock, held by shareholders who supply capital and expect a return on investment. Profits are distributed as dividends or reinvested into the company. This structure aligns closely with traditional corporate financial frameworks in Canadian commerce.

Option B, a captive company, is owned by a parent business to insure its own risks-not structured like a general capital corporation. Option C, a co-operative company, is owned by its policyholders or members, not shareholders. Option D (factory mutual company) refers to a mutual insurer owned by its policyholders and requiring high loss-prevention standards. Thus, the only insurer type that mirrors the capital structure of typical Canadian corporate enterprises is the stock company, making A correct.

NEW QUESTION # 22

Original Insurance Company terminated its broker agreement with TOY Insurance Brokers. Which situation likely resulted in this termination?

- A. Original Insurance Company provided quotes on all broker applications
- B. TOY Insurance Brokers did not keep premiums in a trust account and used them to pay expenses
- C. TOY Insurance Brokers did not remit commissions owed to the insurer
- D. Original Insurance Company did not set service standards

Answer: B

Explanation:

Brokers hold client premiums in trust accounts, separate from operating funds. This is a legal requirement under provincial insurance legislation. Trust funds belong to insurers (or insureds) until properly remitted. If TOY Insurance Brokers used trust funds to pay their own expenses, they violated both fiduciary duty and regulatory obligations. This constitutes serious professional misconduct and is one of the most common and serious reasons for immediate termination of a broker contract-often accompanied by regulatory investigation or license suspension.

Option A would not justify termination because service standards should be defined by the insurer, not the broker. Option B reflects good insurer practice and is unrelated to termination. Option C is incorrect because brokers do not remit commissions to insurers-insurers pay commissions to brokers.

Therefore, the only correct answer is D: failure to maintain premiums in a trust account.

NEW QUESTION # 23

Why does the need for liability insurance arise?

- A. Uphold ethical feelings of responsibility
- B. Reduce personal risk to oneself
- C. Fulfill legal obligations to others
- D. Meet societal obligations and norms

Answer: C

Explanation:

Liability insurance arises because individuals and businesses have legal obligations not to cause bodily injury or property damage to others. When someone is negligent, the law allows the injured party to seek compensation. These legal obligations can be substantial and financially devastating. Liability insurance provides protection by transferring the financial burden of compensating others to an insurer. It ensures that the insured can meet their legal responsibilities and that injured third parties receive compensation.

Option A is incorrect because liability insurance is not for protecting oneself from personal risk-it protects against obligations to others. Option C refers to social norms, which may influence behavior but do not impose enforceable financial duties. Option D refers to ethics, but ethical feelings alone do not create legal liability.

The key reason liability insurance exists is the legal requirement to compensate others when negligent, making B the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 24

What is generally the third step in responding to a privacy breach?

- A. Investigate how the breach happened and prevent recurrence
- B. Determine who needs to be notified and send notices
- C. Evaluate the risks associated with the breach
- D. Contain the breach and assess ways to reduce harm

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:

The typical privacy-breach response sequence used in Canadian insurance organizations follows four steps:

Contain the breach and secure the data (stop further exposure).

Evaluate the risks- determine sensitivity of data, potential harm, affected individuals, and severity.

Notify those who must be informed (affected clients, regulators, privacy commissioners, insurers, or law enforcement).

Prevent recurrence- investigate causes and implement corrective measures.

Since Step 1 is containment and Step 2 is risk evaluation, the third step is notification.

Therefore, the correct answer is C.

NEW QUESTION # 25

What is the Canadian Insurance Claims Managers Association (CICMA) responsible for?

- A. Assessing automobile personal injury claims
- B. Analyzing the damageability of vehicles and property
- C. Promoting a high standard of ethics in the handling of claims
- D. Monitoring claims to detect fraudulent valuations

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Canadian Insurance Claims Managers Association (CICMA) is a professional body composed of senior claims managers across the Canadian insurance industry. Its principal purpose is to promote high ethical standards, professionalism, fairness, and integrity in claims handling. CICMA supports education, networking, and the sharing of best practices to ensure consistency and ethical conduct across insurers.

Option A is incorrect because CICMA does not evaluate or adjudicate claims; individual insurers and provincial accident benefit systems handle those tasks. Option B is incorrect because fraud detection is handled by insurers and sometimes by the Insurance Bureau of Canada (IBC). Option C is unrelated-vehicle damageability research is conducted by organizations such as the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety or similar bodies.

CICMA's work emphasizes ethics, professional development, and claims leadership, which align directly with option D.
