Scrum SAFe-Practitioner (SAFe 5 Practitioner (SP)) Exam is a certification offered by the Scaled Agile Framework (SAFe) organization. It is designed for professionals who want to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of the SAFe framework, particularly its agile and scrum methodologies. The SAFe 5 Practitioner (SP) certification is one of the most sought-after certifications in the agile community, and is recognized globally as a mark of expertise in the field.

In addition to the above, the SP certification exam is designed to help practitioners develop the skills needed to work with stakeholders and customers. This includes understanding customer needs, defining business objectives and key results, and managing customer feedback. By focusing on these areas, the SP certification is helping organizations improve their relationships with stakeholders and deliver products and services that meet their needs.

Scrum SAFe Practitioner Exam (6.0) Sample Questions (Q97-Q102):

NEW QUESTION # 97

What is the purpose of building a continuous delivery pipeline?

- A. To identify key stakeholders within the system architecture
- B. To prioritize development speed over system stability
- C. To prioritize system stability over development speed
- D. To deliver new functionality more frequently than with traditional processes

Answer: D

Explanation:

The purpose of building a continuous delivery pipeline is to enable a streamlined and automated process of delivering software value to the end users. A continuous delivery pipeline consists of four aspects: continuous exploration, continuous integration, continuous deployment, and release on demand. These aspects work together to support the delivery of small batches of new functionality, which are then released to fulfill market demand. Building and maintaining a continuous delivery pipeline allows each Agile Release Train (ART) to deliver new functionality to users far more frequently than with traditional processes, which often involve long and complex release cycles. By delivering value more frequently, the ART can respond faster to customer feedback, reduce waste, improve quality, and increase business agility. NEW QUESTION # 98

Which type of decision should remain centralized even in a decentralized decision-making environment?

- A. Decisions that are made frequently
- B. Decisions that require local information
- C. Decisions that come with a high cost of delay
- D. Decisions that deliver large and broad economic benefit

Answer: D

Explanation:

According to the SAFe framework, some decisions are strategic, have far-reaching impact, and are outside the scope, knowledge, or responsibilities of the teams. These decisions should be centralized, as they are made by leaders who have the market knowledge, longer-range perspectives, and understanding of the business and financial landscape necessary to steer the enterprise. One of the characteristics of these types of decisions is that they provide significant economies of scale, meaning that they deliver large and broad economic benefits to the organization. Examples of such decisions are a common way of working, standard development languages, standard tooling, and offshoring. These decisions are infrequent, long-lasting, and require coordination and alignment across multiple teams and value streams. NEW QUESTION # 100

Which statement correctly describes one aspect of the team's commitment at the end of PI Planning?

- A. A team does not commit to uncommitted objectives
- B. A team commits only to the PI Objectives with the highest business value
- C. A team commits to all the Stories they put on their PI plan
- D. A team commits to all the Features they put on the ART planning board

Answer: A

Explanation:

A team's commitment at the end of PI Planning is based on the PI Objectives that they have defined and negotiated with the Business Owners and other stakeholders. PI Objectives are SMART (Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, and Time-bound) goals that reflect the expected business and technical outcomes for the upcoming PI. A team does not commit to uncommitted objectives, which are stretch goals that may or may not be achieved depending on the actual capacity and velocity of the team. Uncommitted objectives are not included in the vote of confidence or the business value assessment.
