Cisco 300-715 is a qualifying and concentration test for the CCNP Security certificate. The applicants must pass it along with the core exam to earn this professional-level certification. At the same time, the specialists who ace this test will also obtain the Cisco Certified Specialist – Security Identity Management Implementation certificate. This exam is designed to evaluate the individuals' knowledge of Cisco Identity Service Engine. The area of coverage includes deployment & architecture, web auth and guest services, profiler, policy enforcement, network access for device administration, BYOD, and endpoint compliance, among others.

Cisco Identity Services Engine is a powerful security solution that provides secure network access control and policy enforcement. The ISE solution integrates with other Cisco security products, such as AnyConnect VPN, Adaptive Security Appliance (ASA), and Firepower Threat Defense (FTD). The Cisco ISE solution is widely used in enterprise networks, government agencies, and other organizations to provide a secure and controlled network environment.

Cisco 300-715 Exam is designed to test the candidate's knowledge and skills in implementing and configuring Cisco Identity Services Engine (ISE). 300-715 exam is part of the Cisco Certified Network Professional (CCNP) Security certification track and is intended for network security engineers who are responsible for implementing security solutions using Cisco products and technologies.
