HPE Aruba Networking ClearPass Exam Sample Questions (Q15-Q20):

NEW QUESTION # 15

In Aruba ClearPass, what is a "role mapping" used for?

- A. To configure network switches
- B. To determine the IP address range for users
- C. To provide encryption for network traffic
- D. To assign a user role based on device attributes

Answer: D

Explanation:

Role mappings are used to assign roles to users or devices based on their attributes. This helps to enforce network policies for different types of users and devices.

NEW QUESTION # 16

In a corporate network secured with 802.1X authentication, a client device initially receives a quarantine role due to an unknown posture token. After the client completes a health check using the dissolvable OnGuard agent, the health information is processed by the WEBAUTH service.

How does ClearPass utilize this information during the client's second authentication attempt?

- A. ClearPass automatically assigns the client to a guest VLAN without further validation.
- B. ClearPass references the cached posture token to determine the appropriate enforcement policy.
- C. ClearPass requires the client to complete another health check before allowing network access.

Answer: B

Explanation:

After the health check is completed, ClearPass stores the resulting posture token. During the subsequent 802.1X authentication, ClearPass retrieves this cached posture token and uses it to evaluate posture compliance and apply the correct enforcement policy without requiring the health check to be repeated.

NEW QUESTION # 17

Which ClearPass feature enables administrators to create custom policies for specific users or devices?

- A. Access Control Lists (ACLs)
- B. Role Mapping
- C. Device Profiling
- D. Policy Manager

Answer: D

Explanation:

The ClearPass Policy Manager allows administrators to create customized policies for specific users, devices, and groups.

NEW QUESTION # 18

A company is setting up a new secure network service and has configured EAP TLS with OCSP enabled. What additional step must be taken to ensure proper authentication?

- A. Disable the Override OCSP URL from Client option.
- B. Enable fast reconnect for EAP-PEAP.
- C. Add the EAP TLS with OCSP enabled method to the Authentication tab of the secure network service.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Even if a specialized authentication method (like EAP-TLS with OCSP) is configured globally in ClearPass, it is not active for a specific request until it is assigned to a Service . The administrator must navigate to the service being used for that network access and explicitly add the desired method to the Authentication Methods list. Without this step, ClearPass will not attempt to use that specific protocol logic when processing incoming requests for that service.
