VMware Advanced VMware Cloud Foundation 9.0 Operation Sample Questions (Q40-Q45):

NEW QUESTION # 40

Company management has declared that all VCF workload domains require a 20% space buffer and workloads should be placed into as few clusters as possible. What configuration actions does the VCF administrator take on each workload domain and VCF Operations Workload Placement to satisfy the requirement? (Choose two.)

- A. Set a Business Intent Cluster Placement tag "Space_buffer:20"
- B. Set the Operational Intent Cluster Headroom to 20%
- C. Set the Operational Intent Workload Optimization to Balance
- D. Set the Operational Intent Workload Optimization to Consolidate
- E. Set the active Configuration Policy Criticality Threshold for Cluster Compute Resource to 20%

- F. Set a Business Intent Host Placement tag "Optimization:Condense"

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

The correct configuration is to set Operational Intent Cluster Headroom to 20% and set Workload Optimization to Consolidate. VCF Operations Workload Optimization is governed by Operational Intent, which defines how workloads are placed and balanced across clusters. The Workload Automation policy settings define Workload Optimization goals as Balance, Moderate, or Consolidate. The documentation states that Consolidate proactively minimizes the number of clusters used by workloads, potentially freeing resources and supporting cost optimization while still meeting performance goals. That directly maps to the requirement to place workloads into as few clusters as possible. The same policy workspace includes Cluster Headroom, which establishes a required capacity buffer, with the documentation explicitly giving 20 percent as an example and explaining that it preserves extra space for growth inside the cluster. Business Intent tags are used for placement rules based on vCenter tag categories such as operating system, environment, tier, network, or other business constraints, not for defining operational headroom or consolidation strategy.

NEW QUESTION # 41

An administrator creates a new Webhook notification to post alerts to a proprietary ticketing system.

The ticketing system requires the alert severity to be passed in a field named "ticket_priority" instead of the default "criticality".

How can the administrator achieve this customization?

- A. It is not possible; the JSON structure is hardcoded.
- B. Edit the Payload in the Webhook configuration. VCF Operations for Logs allows the administrator to fully customize the HTTP POST body (JSON/XML). The administrator can map the internal variable ${Criticality} to the required custom key "ticket_priority".
- C. Edit the source code of the Log Insight Agent.
- D. Use a middleware server to translate the JSON.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 42

Which type of Plugin must the administrator configure to enable WLP Action-based notifications?

- A. Network Share
- B. Webhook Notification
- C. SNMP Trap
- D. Standard Email

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 43

In the VCF Operations Access Control model, which three specific components must be associated together to grant a user permission to view data?

- A. Identity Source, Role, and Metric Config.
- B. Authentication Policy, Authorization Policy, and Audit Policy.
- C. User/Group, Role, and Object Group (Scope).
- D. User Account, Password, and License Key.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 44

A developer is troubleshooting a complex application error. They found one specific log message indicating the crash. Now, they want to see the logs that occurred on the same host immediately before and after that specific event to understand the context.

Which feature provides this "Time-Adjacent" view?

- A. Right-click the event and select "Filter by Hostname".
- B. "View Context" (or View Surrounding Events). By clicking the context icon (often looks like a list or document) next to the specific log entry, the system opens a dedicated view showing the sequential stream of logs from that specific source around the timestamp of the event, regardless of keywords.
- C. Copy the timestamp and manually search for it.
- D. Use the "Cluster Events" dashboard.

Answer: B
