問題 #339

Which of the following statements about voting is most accurate?

- A. Concerns about the diversity of a company's board cannot be reflected in voting decisions
- B. If there are concerns about the financial viability of a business, investors need to pay close attention to voting decisions on the reappointment of members of the audit committee
- C. Voting is a necessary but not a sufficient element of good stewardship

答案： B

解題說明：

* Importance of Voting in Stewardship:

Voting on resolutions at shareholder meetings is a fundamental aspect of stewardship, enabling investors to influence corporate governance and strategy.

It ensures that management is accountable to shareholders and aligns with long-term interests.

* Focus on Audit Committee:

The audit committee oversees financial reporting and the audit process, which are critical to ensuring the accuracy and reliability of financial statements.

Reappointing members of the audit committee is crucial when there are concerns about a company's financial viability, as this committee plays a key role in maintaining financial integrity.

* Concerns about Board Diversity:

Investors can reflect concerns about board diversity through their voting decisions, particularly during director re-elections.

* Reference:

The importance of voting, particularly on issues related to financial viability and audit committee reappointments, is emphasized in corporate governance and ESG stewardship guidelines.

問題 #341

A private debt fund manager is most likely to engage with borrowers on material ESG risks through:

- A. Board seats.
- B. Ongoing dialogue.
- C. Voting.

答案： B

解題說明：

According to the Official Training Manual (OTM), private debt fund managers lack the direct shareholder rights (like voting) available to equity investors. Instead, their influence derives from relationship management and lending covenants. The manual explicitly states:

"Private debt investors typically integrate ESG through engagement in the lending process, which includes ongoing dialogue with borrowers on risk mitigation, governance practices, and sustainability-linked covenants." This process often extends throughout the loan's duration, ensuring compliance and continuous improvement. Board representation is rare in debt arrangements, making "board seats" (option B) inaccurate. Hence, option C correctly identifies "ongoing dialogue" as the primary engagement mechanism.

問題 #342

In the ESG rating process, an assessment of risk, policies, and preparedness is best categorized as part of a(n):

- A. disclosure-based assessment.
- B. fundamental assessment.
- C. operational assessment.

答案： B

解題說明：

In the ESG rating process, an assessment of risk, policies, and preparedness is best categorized as part of a fundamental assessment. This type of assessment evaluates how well a company is managing its material ESG risks, which includes examining the company's risk exposure, the policies it has in place to manage those risks, and its preparedness to handle potential ESG-related issues. This holistic approach provides a comprehensive view of a company's ESG performance and its ability to sustain long-term value creation.

問題 #343

For which of the following asset classes are investment managers most likely to use voting to exert influence on a company?

- A. Private debt
- B. Real estate
- C. Passive/index tracking

答案： C

解題說明：

Investment managers in passive/index tracking strategies (Option C) frequently use proxy voting as a primary tool to influence companies because:

They cannot sell underperforming ESG stocks easily (since they track an index), so they engage through voting and shareholder resolutions.

Major passive fund managers like BlackRock, Vanguard, and State Street use voting to drive ESG changes.

Option A (Real estate) lacks public voting mechanisms-investors engage via direct ownership.

Option B (Private debt) involves debt covenants, not voting rights.
