IAPP Certified Artificial Intelligence Governance Professional Sample Questions (Q167-Q172):

NEW QUESTION # 167

What is the most important reason for documenting risks when developing an AI system?

- A. To provide transparency to stakeholders.
- B. To promote knowledge sharing.
- C. To align with industry standards.
- D. To mitigate potential liability.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The most critical reason for documenting AI-related risks is to reduce exposure to legal, regulatory, and reputational liabilities. Clear documentation demonstrates that risks were identified, assessed, and addressed, which is essential for accountability and defensibility in the face of audits, litigation, or enforcement actions.

From the AI Governance in Practice Report 2024:

"An effective AI governance model is about collective responsibility... which should encompass oversight mechanisms such as privacy, accountability, compliance." (p. 13)

"Accountability... is based on the idea that there should be a person or entity that is ultimately responsible for any harm resulting from the use of the data, algorithm and AI system's underlying processes." (p. 28) While transparency, alignment with standards, and knowledge sharing are all secondary benefits, risk documentation's primary role is liability mitigation.

NEW QUESTION # 168

You asked a generative AI tool to recommend new restaurants to explore in Boston, Massachusetts that have a specialty Italian dish made in a traditional fashion without spinach and wine. The generative AI tool recommended five restaurants for you to visit. After looking up the restaurants, you discovered one restaurant did not exist and two others did not have the dish. This information provided by the generative AI tool is an example of what is commonly called?

- A. Hallucination.
- B. Overfitting.
- C. Model collapse.
- D. Prompt injection.

Answer: A

Explanation:

In the context of AI, particularly generative models, "hallucination" refers to the generation of outputs that are not based on the training data and are factually incorrect or non-existent. The scenario described involves the generative AI tool providing incorrect and non-existent information about restaurants, which fits the definition of hallucination. Reference: AIGP BODY OF KNOWLEDGE and various AI literature discussing the limitations and challenges of generative AI models.

NEW QUESTION # 169

What is the most important reason for requiring collaboration among cross-functional stakeholder teams during the AI development lifecycle?

- A. To establish accountability
- B. To establish a user-centric design.
- C. To minimize potential liability to users.
- D. To minimize the involvement of third parties.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Collaboration among cross-functional teams ensures clear accountability across different AI development stages, improving governance and risk management.

NEW QUESTION # 170

CASE STUDY

A company is considering the procurement of an AI system designed to enhance the security of IT infrastructure. The AI system analyzes how users type on their laptops, including typing speed, rhythm and pressure, to create a unique user profile. This data is then used to authenticate users and ensure that only authorized personnel can access sensitive resources. The data processed by the AI system would be classified as:

- A. Organizational data, since it is part of the authentication process
- B. Non-sensitive personal data, since it does not reveal information about health, gender or race
- C. Special category data, if it can be used to uniquely identify a person
- D. Non-personal data, as long as it is not linked to a user ID

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is D. Keystroke dynamics, used to identify individuals, fall under biometric data, which is a special category of personal data under the GDPR and other frameworks.

From the AI Governance in Practice Report 2025:

"Keystroke dynamics may constitute biometric data if used to uniquely identify an individual... Biometric data is classified as special category personal data and requires higher protection standards." Also reflected in ILT Participant Guide:

"Biometric data, such as facial images, voiceprints, iris scans or keystroke patterns, are treated as special category data when they are used for the purpose of uniquely identifying individuals."

NEW QUESTION # 171

Scenario:

A global organization wants to align with international frameworks on AI governance. They are reviewing guidance from the OECD on how to incorporate broader governance tools into their AI program.

Codes of conduct and collective agreements are what type of assessment tools as defined by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD)?

- A. Analytic
- B. Technical
- C. Procedural
- D. Educational

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is B - Procedural. The OECD Framework for Classifying AI Systems categorizes codes of conduct and collective agreements as procedural tools because they guide internal governance and decision-making processes.

From the AIGP ILT Participant Guide - Global Governance Models:

"Procedural tools include internal codes of conduct, collective agreements, and procedural audits that guide governance without necessarily involving technical measurement." AI Governance in Practice Report 2024 elaborates:

"These procedural tools support internal accountability mechanisms and ethics compliance frameworks... they are part of soft governance."

These tools do not measure or analyze technical performance, hence they are not technical or analytic.
