NEW QUESTION # 174

What is the most cost-effective way to accurately measure the height of a ceiling when the use of a ladder is not permitted?

- A. Gather measurements from other objects and do the math
- B. Estimate the height based on known object sizes
- C. Use a laser measure to measure the distance from the floor to the ceiling
- D. Rent a lift-cart to lift you up to the ceiling

NEW QUESTION # 175

Which DHCP option, when required, should be configured and enabled to help APs locate their wireless LAN controller?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: C

Explanation:

DHCP Option 43 is used to provide vendor-specific information to clients, such as the IP address of a Wireless LAN Controller (WLC). When lightweight access points (APs) need to discover a WLC, configuring DHCP Option 43 allows the APs to obtain the necessary information to locate and join the controller.

The CWDP-305 Official Study and Reference Guide details the use of DHCP Option 43 for AP and WLC communication.

NEW QUESTION # 176

When performing an active site survey in an existing WLAN infrastructure, in addition to gathering throughput data, what other important function are you typically testing simultaneously?

- A. Roaming
- B. Application filtering
- C. Internet bandwidth
- D. ACL configuration

Answer: A

Explanation:

An active site survey involves connecting to the WLAN and measuring performance metrics such as throughput and signal strength. During this process, as the surveyor moves through the environment, the client device may transition between different access points. This movement inherently tests the network's roaming capabilities, assessing how seamlessly a client can switch from one AP to another without service interruption.
