Psychiatric Rehabilitation Association Certified Psychiatric Rehabilitation Practitioner Sample Questions (Q19-Q24):

NEW QUESTION # 19

An individual describes sadness due to the death of a loved one. The best first response to the individual is:

- A. "What are the good things about the relationship you could focus on?"
- B. "You feel distraught because you lost someone important to you."
- C. "This is an opportunity for you to build your coping skills."
- D. "Do you need to talk to your doctor about a medication adjustment?"

Answer: B

Explanation:

This question falls under Domain I: Interpersonal Competencies, which emphasizes building therapeutic relationships, effective communication, and person-centered approaches to support recovery. The CPRP Exam Blueprint specifies that Interpersonal Competencies include "demonstrating empathy, active listening, and responding to individuals in a manner that validates their feelings and experiences." The best first response to an individual expressing sadness due to a loved one's death should demonstrate empathy and validate their emotions, aligning with the principles of psychiatric rehabilitation, which prioritize person-centered, recovery-oriented communication.

* Option B: "You feel distraught because you lost someone important to you" is a reflective listening statement that acknowledges and validates the individual's emotional experience. It shows empathy by restating their feelings and the cause (loss of a loved one), fostering a therapeutic connection. This aligns with the PRA's emphasis on active listening and empathy as core interpersonal skills in psychiatric rehabilitation.

* Option A: Suggesting a medication adjustment assumes a medical need without exploring the individual's emotional state, which is premature and not person-centered. It does not address the expressed sadness or demonstrate empathy.

* Option C: Focusing on positive aspects of the relationship shifts attention away from the individual's current emotional experience, potentially invalidating their grief. This response lacks empathy and does not align with active listening principles.

* Option D: Framing the loss as an opportunity for coping skills development is directive and dismissive of the individual's immediate emotional needs. It fails to validate their feelings, which is critical in the initial response.

Extract from CPRP Exam Blueprint (Domain I: Interpersonal Competencies):

"Tasks include: 1. Establishing and maintaining a therapeutic relationship with individuals. 2. Demonstrating empathy and active listening skills. 3. Using person-centered communication to validate individuals' experiences and promote recovery."

NEW QUESTION # 20

The starting point of a functional assessment is identifying an individual's

- A. employment history.
- B. past successes.
- C. cognitive ability.
- D. recovery goals.

Answer: D

Explanation:

A functional assessment in psychiatric rehabilitation focuses on identifying strengths, needs, and aspirations to inform person-centered planning. The CPRP Exam Blueprint (Domain IV: Assessment, Planning, and Outcomes) specifies that functional assessments begin with understanding the individual's recovery goals to guide rehabilitation planning (Task IV.A.1: "Conduct functional assessments to identify individual goals and strengths"). Option C (recovery goals) aligns with this, as identifying what the individual wants to achieve (e.g., housing, employment, or social connections) sets the direction for assessing relevant skills and supports.

Option A (past successes) is part of the assessment but secondary to goal identification. Option B (cognitive ability) is a specific domain assessed later, not the starting point. Option D (employment history) is relevant for vocational goals but too narrow for the broader scope of a functional assessment. The PRA Study Guide emphasizes starting with the individual's recovery goals to ensure person-centered planning, supporting Option C.

NEW QUESTION # 21

A strength-focused assessment for psychiatric rehabilitation includes which of the following assessments?

- A. Readiness, functional strengths and needs, and environmental resources/barriers
- B. Knowledge and skills, resources, and barriers for meaningful change
- C. Ability to change, personal resources, community resources
- D. A positive attitude, support systems, opportunities for change

Answer: A

Explanation:

A strength-focused assessment emphasizes an individual's capabilities and supports to inform recovery-oriented planning. The CPRP Exam Blueprint (Domain IV: Assessment, Planning, and Outcomes) defines such assessments as including readiness (motivation), functional strengths and needs (skills and deficits), and environmental resources/barriers (supports and obstacles) to create a holistic, person-centered plan (Task IV.A.1: "Conduct functional assessments to identify individual goals and strengths"). Option C (readiness, functional strengths and needs, and environmental resources/barriers) aligns with this, capturing the key components needed to leverage strengths and address challenges effectively.

Option A (knowledge, skills, resources, barriers) omits readiness, a critical factor. Option B (positive attitude, support systems, opportunities) is vague and less comprehensive. Option D (ability to change, personal /community resources) is incomplete without functional needs and barriers. The PRA Study Guide details these components for strength-focused assessment, supporting Option C.

NEW QUESTION # 22

One of the components of wellness is

- A. compliance with medication.
- B. purpose in life.
- C. avoidance of stress.
- D. absence of illness.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Wellness in psychiatric rehabilitation is a multidimensional concept that encompasses physical, mental, emotional, and social well-being, guided by recovery principles. The CPRP Exam Blueprint (Domain VII: Supporting Health & Wellness) includes supporting individuals in finding meaning and purpose as a key component of wellness (Task VII.A.1: "Promote holistic wellness, including purpose and meaning in life").

Option C (purpose in life) aligns with this task, as having a sense of purpose-through roles, goals, or activities-is a recognized dimension of wellness that fosters resilience and recovery.

Option A (compliance with medication) is a clinical strategy, not a core component of wellness, though it may support health (Domain VII). Option B (avoidance of stress) is impractical and not explicitly listed as a wellness dimension, as wellness involves managing, not eliminating, stress. Option D (absence of illness) is inaccurate, as wellness is not defined by the absence of illness but by positive attributes like purpose, relationships, and self-management, even in the presence of symptoms. The PRA Study Guide, referencing models like SAMHSA's Eight Dimensions of Wellness, includes purpose as a key element, supporting Option C:

NEW QUESTION # 23

Wellness Recovery Action Plan (WRAP) is most useful for which of the following?

- A. Adapting 12-step programs to address symptoms.
- B. Providing tools to handle stress.
- C. Increasing adherence to treatment.
- D. Replacing advance directives.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Wellness Recovery Action Plan (WRAP), developed by Mary Ellen Copeland, is a self-directed, recovery-oriented framework that empowers individuals to manage their mental health and wellness. The CPRP Exam Blueprint (Domain V: Strategies for Facilitating Recovery) highlights WRAP as a tool for developing self-management skills, particularly for managing stress and preventing crises (Task V.B.2):

"Facilitate the development of self-management skills"). Option B (providing tools to handle stress) aligns with WRAP's core components, which include identifying triggers, creating a wellness toolkit (e.g., coping strategies like mindfulness or exercise), and developing action plans to manage stress and symptoms effectively.

Option A (adapting 12-step programs) is incorrect, as WRAP is a distinct, personalized recovery model, not an adaptation of 12-step programs, which focus on addiction recovery. Option C (increasing adherence to treatment) may be an indirect benefit but is not WRAP's primary purpose, which emphasizes self-empowerment over compliance. Option D (replacing advance directives) is incorrect, as WRAP complements, but does not replace, legal documents like advance directives, which are addressed separately (Task V.C.3).

The PRA Study Guide emphasizes WRAP's role in fostering resilience and stress management, supporting Option B.
