Oracle Project Management Cloud 2025 Implementation Professional Sample Questions (Q60-Q65):

NEW QUESTION # 60

You are currently involved in the implementation of the Project Financial Management solution for your client organization. Your client organization has two main lines of business: Consulting and Support. Consulting Services and Support Services organizations have different project planning, management, analysis and reporting requirements for the projects that they manage, though the management reporting and transaction processing requirements are the same for both the organizations. What will be your recommendation?

- A. Define One Business Unit and Three Project Units
- B. Define One Business Unit and Two Project Units
- C. Define Two Business Units and Two Project Units
- D. Define Two Business Units and One Project Unit

Answer: B

Explanation:

The recommendation for this scenario is to define one business unit and two project units. A business unit is an organization that performs one or many business functions such as transaction processing or reporting. A project unit is an organization that manages projects within a business unit or across multiple business units.

By defining one business unit and two project units, you can meet the following requirements of the client organization:

- * The management reporting and transaction processing requirements are the same for both the organizations: This can be achieved by using the same business unit for both the organizations, as the business unit determines the common setups such as ledger, currency, calendar, etc. for transaction processing and reporting.
- * The project planning, management, analysis and reporting requirements are different for each organization: This can be achieved by using different project units for each organization, as the project unit determines the specific setups such as project types, templates, options, etc. for project planning, management, analysis and reporting. Defining two business units and two project units is not recommended for this scenario, as this would create unnecessary duplication of setups for transaction processing

Your organization wants to capture the project details for work order labor and equipment resource transactions as part of a project-driven supply chain solution.

Which expenditure type class is recommended for the expenditure types that need to be defined for these type of transactions?

- A. Work In Process
- B. Inventory
- C. Supplier Invoice

- D. Usages

Answer: A

Explanation:

The expenditure type class that is recommended for the expenditure types that need to be defined for work order labor and equipment resource transactions is Work In Process. This class indicates that the transactions are related to work orders that are performed as part of a project-driven supply chain solution. This class also allows the transactions to be processed by Oracle Fusion Manufacturing applications and transferred to Oracle Fusion Project Costing applications. Supplier Invoice is not a valid expenditure type class for work order labor and equipment resource transactions. This class indicates that the transactions are related to supplier invoices that are entered in Oracle Fusion Payables applications and transferred to Oracle Fusion Project Costing applications.

Usages is not a valid expenditure type class for work order labor and equipment resource transactions. This class indicates that the transactions are related to material usages that are entered in Oracle Fusion Inventory Management applications and transferred to Oracle Fusion Project Costing applications. Inventory is not a valid expenditure type class for work order labor and equipment resource transactions. This class indicates that the transactions are related to inventory movements that are entered in Oracle Fusion Inventory Management applications and transferred to Oracle Fusion Project Costing applications.
