ISQI ISTQB Certified Tester-Foundation Level - Usability Testing Sample Questions (Q32-Q37):

NEW QUESTION # 32

Which of the following is the correct distinction between formative and summative usability evaluation?

- A. Summative evaluations assess the outcome, formative evaluations focus on improvement
- B. Summative evaluations mostly rely on user tests, formative evaluations require experts
- C. Summative evaluations focus on improvement, formative evaluations assess the outcome
- D. Summative evaluations mostly rely on experts, formative evaluations require users

Answer: A

Explanation:

Formative usability evaluation is conducted during the development process to identify usability problems and improve the product iteratively. It is diagnostic and improvement-focused. Summative evaluation, on the other hand, is done after development to assess the final product's usability, measuring how well it meets defined usability goals. Therefore, the correct distinction is that formative evaluation focuses on improvement, and summative evaluation assesses the outcome. This distinction aligns with widely accepted models such as those defined by ISO 9241-210 and usability.gov.

NEW QUESTION # 33

Which of the following statements about usability test scripts is wrong?

- A. It is a checklist used by the moderator of a usability test.
- B. It contains answers to the test questions.
- C. It contains post-session interview questions.
- D. It contains pre-session interview questions.

Answer: B

Explanation:

A usability test script is a structured document used by the moderator to ensure consistency across test sessions. It typically includes pre-session briefing text, pre- and post-session interview questions, and the specific usability tasks to be performed. However, it does not include answers to the test questions, as usability tests focus on observing user behavior and performance-not testing users' knowledge. Providing answers would bias results and invalidate findings. Thus, option D is incorrect and the best choice.

NEW QUESTION # 34

What does the Equality Act address?

- A. It states that websites have to adhere to the WCAG conformity level AA
- B. It states that websites have to adhere to the WCAG conformity level A
- C. It obligates organizations to make sites accessible at all costs
- D. It protects people from discrimination in the workplace and in wider society

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Equality Act 2010 (UK) is legislation designed to protect individuals from discrimination in various areas, including employment and access to goods and services-this includes digital products like websites.

While it does not directly mandate WCAG compliance levels (A or AA), it implies that digital services must be accessible to users with disabilities. Organizations are required to make "reasonable adjustments" to avoid discrimination. Therefore, the most accurate and comprehensive answer is B.

NEW QUESTION # 35

Which of the following are common mistakes made in usability testing?

- i. The user is too active
- ii. Critical results are ignored
- iii. No observers involved
- iv. Scheduling too late
- v. Incorrect focus

- A. i, ii & iii are true, iv & v are false
- B. i & iii are true, ii, iv & v are false
- C. ii, iv & v are true, i & iii are false
- D. ii & iv are true, i, iii & v are false

Answer: C

Explanation:

Common mistakes in usability testing include:

Ignoring critical results (ii): A significant issue if findings are not acted upon.

Scheduling the test too late (iv): This can lead to usability problems being discovered too late to be addressed effectively.

Having the wrong focus (v): For instance, focusing on aesthetics instead of usability goals.

Option i ("user is too active") is not a problem-active participation is necessary. Option iii ("no observers involved") is not a typical mistake, since tests can still be valid even with recorded sessions and later review.

Hence, the correct answer is A: ii, iv & v are true.

NEW QUESTION # 36

You're defining usability test tasks for a web shop for mobile phones and smartphones. Finding out whether users are able to place an order easily has been identified as the main goal of the usability test.

Which of the following is a reasonable task definition to include in the test?

- A. Put the first phone you find in your shopping cart!
- B. Which mobile operating system do you prefer?
- C. Enter the item number "1469483" in the search box and click "OK". Put the first item in the cart by clicking "add to bag". Then, click on "checkout" in order to start the order process. After that, fill in the form and click on "submit".
- D. Your phone broke and you're looking for a new smartphone. Your budget is 200$ and it should have an infrared sensor as you like to operate your home entertainment system with it. Find a suited smartphone and order it!

Answer: D

Explanation:

Option B represents a realistic, goal-oriented scenario that reflects how an actual user would interact with the website. It incorporates context, user intent, constraints, and desired outcome-all characteristics of well- designed usability tasks. Option A is vague and lacks real-world motivation. Option C is too prescriptive and limits insight into user behavior, while D is a survey question, not a usability task. According to Nielsen Norman Group and ISO 25062, the best usability tasks are scenario-based, realistic, and outcome-driven- making B the correct answer.
