SAP Certified - Database Administrator - SAP HANA Sample Questions (Q52-Q57):

NEW QUESTION # 52

CHALLENGE 4 - Regional Release Recovery Assurance

Backups completed for the upgraded central SAP HANA system and the newly installed remediation database before testing began. Recovery validation for the remediation database is scheduled but not complete, and the upgraded system has only backup completion evidence. What should happen before regional release approval?

- A. Approve the release because completed backups are enough for retail reporting continuity.
- B. Complete recovery validation and document startup behavior for the remediation systems.
- C. Release the template and perform recovery validation only if reporting becomes unavailable.
- D. Replace recovery validation with dashboard availability because this is not a production outage.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Feedback:

Recovery validation and startup behavior should be completed before regional release approval. Backup completion supports continuity planning, but it does not prove recoverability for the remediation systems.

NEW QUESTION # 53

A regional building materials supplier uses SAP HANA for inventory availability analytics. The administrator reviews backup readiness after a storage maintenance activity. SAP HANA cockpit shows a successful backup entry, but the recovery checklist references a storage alias that was retired during the maintenance window. A manual file review confirms that the backup exists under the new alias. The operations manager wants to approve readiness because the backup file is present.

The constraint is that the administrator must prove the documented recovery path can retrieve the correct backup artifact. The team must not rely on manual discovery when the recovery checklist points to a retired location reference.

What should the administrator do next?

- A. Approve readiness because the backup exists under the new storage alias and can be found manually.
- B. Restore from the manually found backup file and ignore the retired storage alias in the checklist.
- C. Update the recovery checklist to the active storage alias, validate retrieval through the documented path, and record the result.
- D. Create another backup and leave the checklist unchanged because the catalog will contain a newer entry.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Feedback:

This resolves the recovery documentation binding at the correct layer. Updating the active alias and validating retrieval through the checklist confirms that backup creation, location reference, recovery retrieval, and readiness evidence are aligned.

NEW QUESTION # 54

A regional textile manufacturer is rehearsing a phased migration from SAP HANA on-premises to SAP HANA Cloud. The source export finishes, the cloud target is reachable, and a small validation query succeeds on the target. During the readiness review, the administrator notices that the migration evidence does not include confirmation that the target-side administration user can perform required monitoring and backup review tasks after import. The project sponsor wants approval because the transfer and query were successful.

The constraint is that the migration wave must prove operational administration readiness in the cloud target, not only data movement. The rehearsal must remain repeatable for later migration waves.

Which recommendation is most appropriate?

- A. Perform target-side administration validation with the intended cloud administration user and approve only after monitoring and backup review checks pass.
- B. Approve the migration wave because the export completed and the target query succeeded.

- C. Use the on-premises administration user for target checks so the team can reuse the same operational procedure after migration.
- D. Repeat the export with a larger dataset so the successful target query has stronger data coverage.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Feedback:

This validates the cloud administration path required after migration. Using the intended target-side administration user confirms that migration execution, target access, monitoring review, backup review, and repeatable operational evidence are aligned.

NEW QUESTION # 55

CHALLENGE 3 - Cloud Migration Readiness Separation

The modernization lead wants the SAP HANA Cloud database included in the same release readiness status because it is provisioned and has a limited activation dataset. The cloud environment has not completed the startup, monitoring, or recovery evidence package used for active UAT systems. What is the best response?

- A. Keep cloud migration evidence separate until cloud-specific administration validation is completed.
- B. Use the upgraded reporting system's monitoring record as the SAP HANA Cloud readiness record.
- C. Include the cloud database in the same status because provisioning and limited data show progress.
- D. Stop cloud planning until the current UAT release decision is fully completed.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Feedback:

Cloud migration evidence should remain separate until cloud-specific administration validation is completed. Provisioning and limited data support planning, but they do not equal active UAT release readiness.

NEW QUESTION # 56

CHALLENGE 3 - Cloud Migration Readiness Separation

The project team wants to approve cloud migration planning using three facts: the SAP HANA Cloud database is provisioned, limited activation data is loaded, and on-premises UAT reports run successfully. Which validation step is still required?

- A. Stop on-premises UAT validation because the future reporting direction is cloud-based.
- B. Confirm cloud administration readiness evidence for the limited activation dataset scope.
- C. Approve migration planning because the three facts cover the full readiness chain.
- D. Treat the limited dataset as proof that cloud monitoring and recovery evidence are complete.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Feedback:

Cloud administration readiness evidence is still required for the limited activation dataset scope. Provisioning and data loading support planning, but they do not complete cloud readiness validation.
