BCI Certificate of the Business Continuity Institute (CBCI) Sample Questions (Q24-Q29):

NEW QUESTION # 24

An example of regularly planned ongoing maintenance of the Business Continuity Management System (BCMS) is:

- A. Examining with department heads the performance of their systems following near misses
- B. Taking corrective actions to revise the Business Continuity plan after an actual incident
- C. Making changes to the evacuation procedures after an emergency building evacuation demonstrates the procedures include unexpected risks
- D. Performing a check of backup equipment at the alternate site on a monthly basis

Answer: D

Explanation:

The CBCI 7.0 course highlights that regularly scheduled maintenance activities, such as monthly checks of backup equipment, are essential for ensuring that Business Continuity resources remain operational and ready for use. Such preventative maintenance helps detect failures before incidents occur, supporting system reliability. While corrective actions and reviews following incidents or near misses are important, ongoing, planned maintenance is the proactive foundation of system resilience. Evacuation procedure changes are reactive and part of continual improvement, but routine equipment checks represent essential planned maintenance.

NEW QUESTION # 25

A key difference between "embedding" and "embracing" Business Continuity (BC) is that:

- A. Embedding is focused on mandating and enforcing compliance whereas embracing is aimed at creating a greater understanding of the reason why BC is needed through cultural change
- B. Embedding relies on commitment from personnel whereas embracing is mandated and incorporates strict discipline
- C. Embedding is mandated by top management within the BCMS whereas embracing is designed and implemented by operational teams
- D. Embedding is only relevant for organizations that are new to BC whereas embracing should only be undertaken in organizations with well-established BCMS

Answer: A

Explanation:

CBCI 7.0 explicitly covers "the difference between embracing and embedding business continuity." In BCI's messaging around GPG 7.0, the change to "embracing" reflects a shift from a compliance-heavy mindset toward building understanding, belief, and culture, so people know why BC matters and behave accordingly.

Option A best captures this: "embedding" is commonly associated with making BC part of routines through processes and requirements (often interpreted as compliance enforcement), while "embracing" focuses on the cultural and behavioural commitment that makes BC sustainable and meaningful.

Options B-D misstate ownership and maturity. Embracing is not only an operational-team activity; it needs leadership sponsorship and organization-wide participation. It is also relevant at any maturity level, and it is not fundamentally about mandating strict discipline-rather it is about creating shared understanding and engagement.

NEW QUESTION # 26

A strategic plan:

- A. May contain procedures for coordinating the transportation of personnel to alternate facilities
- B. Should identify viable options to coordinate efforts of the operational teams
- C. May be supported by a separate crisis communications plan
- D. Should contain procedures for responding to emergencies, including threats to life, or the environment

Answer: C

Explanation:

Strategic plans set the overarching framework and objectives for Business Continuity and are often supported by separate tactical or crisis communication plans tailored to communication needs during disruptions. The CBCI 7.0 course clarifies that while strategic plans guide overall responses, detailed emergency procedures and logistics coordination typically reside in operational or tactical plans, ensuring clarity and focus at different planning levels.

NEW QUESTION # 27

Which method of measuring culture requires periodic checks to determine the percentage of the organization's personnel currently covered by existing Business Continuity culture initiatives?

- A. Behavioural consistency
- B. Business Continuity awareness
- C. Unstructured observation
- D. Culture index

Answer: B

Explanation:

The CBCI 7.0 course identifies Business Continuity awareness measurement as a method involving regular assessments of personnel engagement levels with Business Continuity culture initiatives. Periodic checks gauge how many employees have been reached by awareness programs, training, and communications. This quantitative approach provides tangible data on the penetration of continuity culture across the organization, informing areas needing focus or improvement. Unlike unstructured observations or broader culture indices, awareness measurement specifically targets the spread and effectiveness of Business Continuity messaging and understanding.

NEW QUESTION # 28

Which of the following is an action that the Business Continuity professional will take as part of the process of strategy determination?

- A. Prepare a communications brief to advise all external stakeholders of the outcome of the gap analysis and the plan for acting on the findings
- B. Design a strategy for agreement with top management that can then be delegated to the relevant owners of priority products, services, activities, and processes
- C. Develop a mandatory training schedule to ensure that all personnel are required to address any skills gaps relevant to the delivery of priority products, services, activities, and processes
- D. Work with the relevant product, services, activity, or process owner to develop a specification for an appropriate solution

Answer: D

Explanation:

Strategy determination is a collaborative process where the Business Continuity professional works directly with owners of priority products, services, activities, or processes to develop detailed specifications for solutions that meet continuity requirements. The CBCI 7.0 course highlights this partnership as essential to ensure strategies are practical, aligned with operational realities, and capable of achieving recovery objectives. While designing high-level strategies and managing communication are important, hands-on collaboration with operational owners facilitates realistic, implementable solutions. This approach increases ownership, ensures accuracy, and fosters smoother implementation.
