SAP BTP distinguishes between which of the following users? Note: There are 2 correct answers to this question.

- A. Key users
- B. Technical users

- C. Platform users
- D. Business users

Answer: C,D

Explanation:
SAP Business Technology Platform (BTP) distinguishes between Business users and Platform users. Business users are end-users who access applications, such as SAP Fiori apps or custom solutions, hosted on BTP to perform business tasks. Their access is managed via role collections that grant permissions to specific business functionalities. Platform users, in contrast, are administrators or developers who manage the BTP environment, including subaccounts, services, and configurations, using tools like the BTP Cockpit. They have administrative privileges to configure and deploy applications. Key users, while relevant in some SAP contexts, are not a distinct BTP user type, often overlapping with business users. Technical users are not a standard category in BTP's user classification, as their functions are covered by platform users or system accounts. This distinction ensures clear separation of responsibilities, enabling secure and efficient management of BTP resources while supporting business operations and administrative tasks in a cloud-based environment.
