Question: 6

Which of the following statements regarding standard precautions for infection control is FALSE?

- A. Use both hands to recap needles.
- B. Hands should be washed before putting on and after removing gloves.
- C. Standard precautions apply to all secretions except sweat.
- D. Resuscitation devices may be used as an alternative to the mouth-to-mouth method.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Never use both hands, or even one hand, to recap a needle. If a needle must be recapped, the cap should be placed in a cap-holding device or on a solid surface and the needle slid into it. Hands should be washed both before putting on and after removing gloves. Standard precautions should be followed for all body fluids except sweat. Resuscitation devices may be used as an alternative to mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Question: 7

The phlebotomist is NOT required to use an N95 (or equivalent) respirator when entering the room of a patient with which of the following communicable diseases, even when the phlebotomist is not immune to the disease?

- A. Chickenpox
- B. Measles
- C. Influenza
- D. COVID-19

Answer: C

Explanation:

An N95 or equivalent respirator must be worn by all healthcare personnel entering the room of a patient known or suspected to have a disease that is spread through airborne transmission if the healthcare worker is not immune to the disease. These diseases include chickenpox, measles, COVID-19, and tuberculosis. Many healthcare facilities require the use of N95 or equivalent respirators by all personnel who may be exposed to these diseases even if they are immune due to vaccination or previous infection. However, for diseases that are spread through droplet transmission, such as influenza and the common cold, a surgical mask provides adequate protection.

Sample Questions (Q34-Q39):

NEW QUESTION # 34

If a patient has undergone bilateral mastectomies with surgeries 5 years apart, what venipuncture site should the phlebotomist select?

- A. The phlebotomist should ask the physician for instructions.
- B. The arm on the side of the most recent mastectomy
- C. The arm on the side of the most distant mastectomy
- D. An ankle on either side

Answer: A

Explanation:

If a patient has undergone bilateral mastectomies with surgeries 5 years apart, the phlebotomist should ask the physician for instructions regarding the appropriate site. If policy precludes the use of the lower extremities, the venipuncture site is usually the arm on the side with the most distant mastectomy because the healing is more advanced. However, placing a tourniquet on the side of a mastectomy increases the risk of lymphedema, and the impaired lymphatic filtering and drainage also increases the risk of infection.

NEW QUESTION # 35

Blood levels of which of the following are normally lowest in the morning?

- A. Potassium
- B. Insulin
- C. Iron
- D. Glucose

Answer: D

Explanation:

Blood glucose levels are usually lowest in the morning. Iron, insulin, and potassium levels are usually highest in the morning.

NEW QUESTION # 36

When carrying out a heelstick blood collection on a newborn, what should the maximum depth of the puncture be?

- A. 2 mm
- B. 1 mm
- C. 3 mm
- D. 1.5 mm

Answer: A

Explanation:

When carrying out a heelstick blood collection on a newborn, the depth of the puncture should be equal to or less than 2 mm. In a newborn, the blood supply is typically located 0.35-1.6 mm below the skin. Thus, a 2 mm depth provides an adequate flow of blood but is generally too shallow to cause injury to the calcaneus. The heelstick should be done on the lateral aspects of the heel rather than the middle or posterior aspects to ensure that the calcaneus is avoided.

NEW QUESTION # 37

Which of the following tests or panels is NOT part of dementia screening?

- A. HIV antibody test
- B. Thyroid function panel
- C. Kidney function panel
- D. Liver function panel

Answer: D

Explanation:

Liver function tests are not part of dementia screening, which is done to try to differentiate Alzheimer's disease from dementia related to other disorders. Dementia screening includes general tests for disorders that may present with dementia as one of the symptoms. Tests include thyroid and kidney function tests as well as WBC (white blood cell count) and RBC (red blood cell count). Other tests include HIV antibody, vitamin B12, syphilis screening, ESR (erythrocyte sedimentation rate), alanine transaminase, aluminum, and toxicology screening.

NEW QUESTION # 38

Which of the following disinfectants may be used to prepare the venipuncture site for EtOH testing?

- A. Isopropyl alcohol
- B. Methanol
- C. Soap and water
- D. Tincture of iodine

Answer: C

Explanation:

During blood alcohol (ethanol, or EtOH) testing, regular soap and water may be used to clean the venipuncture site if a non-alcohol disinfectant such as povidone-iodine or aqueous benzalkonium chloride is not available. Disinfectants that contain alcohol, such as tincture of iodine, isopropyl alcohol, or methanol, should not be used because they may compromise test results.
