NEW QUESTION # 50
You have a requirement to configure a different user interface (UI) depending on the user accessing it.
For one hosting application, you want a full-featured interface where users can select all options. These users have product knowledge and, therefore, do not need to be guided as much.
For the other hosting application, you want a more guided interface that takes the users through each step and hides some of the product details that may be confusing.
How can you do this?

- A. By doing nothing. You cannot have more than one UI based on different applications that are accessing it. All users will have to use the more simplified method.
- B. By bullding this using different languages; for example, you can have the first hosting application to provide access by using American English and the second hosting application to provide access by using British English
- C. By building a Configurator rule that shows different options based on the application that is accessing
- D. By using Dynamic Tree Navigation and making the first question that users are prompted with to be related to the interface that they want to use
- E. By building two separate user interfaces and for each UI and selecting the corresponding application under Applicability Parameters in the user interface setup

Answer: E

Explanation:
By building two separate user interfaces and for each UI and selecting the corresponding application under Applicability Parameters in the user interface setup.
This answer is correct because it allows you to create different user interfaces for different hosting applications, and control the visibility and behavior of each UI based on the applicability parameters.You can use the User Interface Setup task in the Setup and Maintenance work area to create and manage user interfaces for Oracle Order Management Cloud Order to Cash1.
The other answers are incorrect for the following reasons:
* By building this using different languages; for example, you can have the first hosting application to provide access by using American English and the second hosting application to provide access by using British English: This answer is incorrect because using different languages does not change the user interface design or functionality. It only changes the language of the labels and messages that are displayed to the user.
* By doing nothing. You cannot have more than one UI based on different applications that are accessing it. All users will have to use the more simplified method: This answer is incorrect because you can have more than one UI based on different applications that are accessing it.You can use the applicability parameters to specify the hosting application for each UI, and the order of precedence to determine which UI to display when there are multiple matches1.
* By using Dynamic Tree Navigation and making the first question that users are prompted with to be related to the interface that they want to use: This answer is incorrect because Dynamic Tree Navigation is a feature that enables you to create a guided selling experience for configurable products.It does not allow you to create different user interfaces for different hosting applications2.
* By building a Configurator rule that shows different options based on the application that is accessing:
This answer is incorrect because Configurator rules are used to define the logic and constraints for configurable products.They do not allow you to create different user interfaces for different hosting applications3.

At which stage of the fulfillment process, will this change be accepted?

- A. A purchase order is created against the drop ship sales order but it is not yet shipped by the supplier.
- B. A requisition is created from the drop ship sales order but the purchase order is yet to be created.
- C. The entire quantity in the purchase order schedule has been shipped by the supplier.
- D. The purchase order schedule against this drop ship sales order line has been partially shipped.

Answer: B

Explanation:
The drop ship flow is a variation of the order-to-cash flow, where ordered items are sourced from a supplier1.
A revision on a drop ship sales order line to increase the quantity will be accepted only if the requisition is created from the drop ship sales order but the purchase order is yet to be created. This is because once the purchase order is created, the quantity on the sales order line cannot be changed2. If the purchase order is partially or fully shipped by the supplier, the sales order line is also partially or fully fulfilled and cannot be revised.
