NEW QUESTION # 96

What is the correct format for naming a macro with multiple arguments?

- A. `monthly_sales(3)`
- B. `monthly_sales(argument 1, argument 2, argument 3)`
- C. `monthly_sales[3]`
- D. `monthly_sales[argument 1, argument 2, argument 3]`

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct format for naming a macro with multiple arguments is `monthly_sales3`. The square brackets indicate that the macro has arguments, and the number indicates how many arguments it has. The arguments are separated by commas when calling the macro, such as `monthly_sales[region,salesperson,date]`.

NEW QUESTION # 97

Which of these search strings is NOT valid:

- A. `index=web status=50* | chart count over host by status`
- B. `index=web status=50* | chart count by host, status`
- C. `index=web status=50* | chart count over host, status`

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

This search string is not valid: `index=web status=50* | chart count over host,status2`. This search string uses an invalid syntax for the chart command. The chart command requires one field after the over clause and optionally one field after the by clause. However, this search string has two fields after the over clause separated by a comma. This will cause a syntax error and prevent the search from running. Therefore, option A is correct, while options B and C are incorrect because they are valid search strings that use the chart command correctly.
