NEW QUESTION # 48
In which of the following stages of the Cyber Kill Chain does the actor not interact with the victim endpoint(s)?

- A. Command & control
- B. Exploitation
- C. Installation
- D. Weaponization

Answer: D

Explanation:

Weaponization is the stage of the Cyber Kill Chain where the actor does not interact with the victim endpoint(s). Weaponization is where the actor prepares or packages the exploit or payload that will be used to compromise the target. This stage does not involve any communication or interaction with the victim endpoint(s), as it is done by the actor before delivering the weaponized content. Exploitation, Command & Control, and Installation are all stages where the actor interacts with the victim endpoint(s), either by executing code, establishing communication, or installing malware.

NEW QUESTION # 49

What elements are required to properly execute a Process Timeline?

- A. Agent ID (AID) only
- B. Hostname and Local Process ID
- C. Agent ID (AID) and Target Process ID
- D. Target Process ID only

Answer: C

Explanation:
The Agent ID (AID) and the Target Process ID are the elements that are required to properly execute a Process Timeline. The Agent ID (AID) is a unique identifier for each host that has a Falcon sensor installed. The Target Process ID is the decimal representation of the process identifier for the process that you want to investigate. These two elements are used to query the cloud for the events related to the process on the host. The Agent ID (AID) only, the Hostname and Local Process ID, and the Target Process ID only are not sufficient to execute a Process Timeline.

- A. Emailing the intended victim with a malware attachment
- B. Loading a malicious payload into a common DLL
- C. Installing a backdoor on the victim endpoint
- D. Discovering internet-facing servers

Answer: D

Explanation:
Discovering internet-facing servers is an example of actor actions during the RECONNAISSANCE phase of the Cyber Kill Chain. The RECONNAISSANCE phase is where the adversary researches and identifies targets, vulnerabilities, and attack vectors. Discovering internet-facing servers is a way for the adversary to find potential entry points or weaknesses in the target network.

Which field in a DNS Request event points to the responsible process?

- A. TargetProcessId_decimal
- B. ContextProcessId_readable
- C. ContextProcessId_decimal

The TargetProcessId_decimal, ContextProcessId_decimal, and ParentProcessId_decimal fields do not point to the responsible process.
