ISQI ISTQB Foundation Level - Acceptance Testing Sample Questions (Q63-Q68):

NEW QUESTION # 63

Which of the following statements regarding defects is MOST correct?

- A. Regular meetings between business analysts and testers are necessary to report discrepancies between actual and expected outcome.
- B. The tester should analyze the potential impact of a defect on system usage, before communicating it to the business analyst.

- C. If the defect turns out to be a bug, the tester writes a defect report and sends it to the business analyst for further investigation.
- D. Testers should provide accurate information regarding the difference between the expected test result and the actual result.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 64

For a project to migrate an employee qualification management system to web technologies, the following requirement has been defined REQ 3-12 The system must be able to manage 3 types of users: HR team member with full rights, department manager with consultation and update rights only for members of his/her department, and employee with read-only access to his/her data Which of the following sentences BEST reflects an acceptable acceptance criterion?

- A. Security test must be performed to demonstrate that the authentication and rights management system is working properly
- B. The list of employees who are members of a department can only be updated by a person logged as HR
- C. Since I am logged in as a department manager, when I try to access the file of an employee who is not in my department then a message telling me that I do not have access rights is displayed
- D. The database must use MangoDB

Answer: C

Explanation:

Acceptance criteria should define how the system behaves for a given user story or requirement. They must be precise, testable, and directly traceable to the requirement being verified.

REQ 3-12 describes access control for three user types. Option B is a concrete, scenario-based acceptance criterion that tests the enforcement of access rights - making it an ideal match.

Other options:

A is irrelevant - database technology (MongoDB) is an implementation detail, not a functional criterion.

C is too vague - stating that security tests must be performed doesn't specify expected behavior or outcome.

D is plausible, but option B more directly demonstrates how an actual system behavior validates the requirement.

B). Since I am logged in as a department manager, when I try to access the file of an employee who is not in my department then a message telling me that I do not have access rights is displayed

NEW QUESTION # 65

Which of the following statements regarding defects is MOST correct?

- A. Regular meetings between business analysts and testers are necessary to report discrepancies between actual and expected outcome.
- B. The tester should analyze the potential impact of a defect on system usage, before communicating it to the business analyst.
- C. If the defect turns out to be a bug, the tester writes a defect report and sends it to the business analyst for further investigation.
- D. Testers should provide accurate information regarding the difference between the expected test result and the actual result.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Defect reporting is a core responsibility of testers. When a test fails, the tester must document the observed behavior and how it differs from the expected behavior. This allows developers, analysts, and stakeholders to assess whether the issue is a defect, and if so, prioritize and fix it.

Option B is correct because it accurately describes the core responsibility of a tester when logging a defect: report the mismatch between actual and expected outcomes clearly and objectively.

Other options:

A refers to meetings, which are useful but not a replacement for clear defect reports.

C incorrectly assigns the role of defect routing to business analysts - this is typically handled by test or defect management tools.

D suggests the tester analyzes impact before reporting - which could delay the defect being logged and is not always the tester's role (impact analysis is often done collaboratively later).

B). Testers should provide accurate information regarding the difference between the expected test result and the actual result.

NEW QUESTION # 66

Which one of the following combinations of given perspective and statement matches BEST?

- A. From a technical perspective, the number of concurrent user and the types of transactions performed are major elements.
- B. From a user perspective, missing feedback from the system when processing a request it is a problem.
- C. From a business perspective, the choice of performance test tools strongly depends on the applied test techniques.
- D. From a business perspective, computing power and architecture are major parameters for fine- tuning the system.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In usability and user experience, system feedback is critical. Users expect clear, timely responses from the system to confirm their actions are received and processed. Lack of feedback (e.g., when clicking a button yields no visual response) leads to confusion, frustration, or repeated actions.

Option B is correct because it highlights a genuine issue from a user's perspective - inadequate feedback, which affects usability and satisfaction.

Other options:

A focuses on technical infrastructure (architecture, computing power) - a technical or business concern, but less so from a user's lens.

C is mostly correct but fits the technical or test engineer's perspective rather than the user's.

D is inaccurate - selection of performance tools is primarily a technical/test management decision, not business-driven.

B). From a user perspective, missing feedback from the system when processing a request is a problem.

NEW QUESTION # 67

Which one of the following acceptance criteria relates to security requirements?

- A. The graphical user interface shall comply with corporate style guides.
- B. Normal users shall have restricted access to private data.
- C. The system's response time shall not exceed 3 seconds.
- D. The system shall be web-based.

Answer: B
