Database administrator

Answer:

Explanation:

Job roles  Answer Area

	Data engineer	Create a pipeline to transfer data from a database to a data warehouse.
Data architect	Database administrator	Create a transactional database.
	Data analyst	Create a chart that shows sales transactions by week.

Explanation:

The job roles define differentiated tasks and responsibilities. In some organizations, the same person might perform multiple roles; so in their role as database administrator they might provision a transactional database, and then in their role as a data engineer they might create a pipeline to transfer data from the database to a data warehouse for analysis.
