HPE Storage Solutions Sample Questions (Q170-Q175):

NEW QUESTION # 170

Your customer currently uses a VMware-based Veeam backup proxy. They would like to perform a direct backup from their FC-connected Alletra 9000 array. What could be the reason for the backup falling back to network mode?

- A. Direct backup from an HPE Alletra 9000 array requires an Advanced Backup LTU
- B. VM-based backup proxy has not enough RAM and more must be assigned in VM properties
- C. HPE Alletra 9000 storage array WS API connection timeout value must be increased
- D. Direct backup from a FC-connected array is only available on physical server-based backup proxy

Answer: D

Explanation:

If a customer is using a VMware-based Veeam backup proxy and attempts to perform a direct backup from their Fibre Channel (FC)-connected HPE Alletra 9000 array, but the backup falls back to network mode, the likely reason is that direct backup from an FC-connected array is only supported on a physical server-based backup proxy. VMware-based (virtual) proxies do not support direct FC connections, which is why the backup process defaults to network mode. To achieve direct backup via FC, the customer would need to configure a physical server as the backup proxy.

NEW QUESTION # 171

NEW QUESTION # 172

A customer has a 3PAR storeserv with FC and SSD drives who would like to improve the performance for random reads. Which 3PAR Storeserve feature would provide better read performance?

- A. Adaptive Flash Cache
- B. Smart Cache
- C. Express Layout
- D. Deduplication

Answer: A

Explanation:

Adaptive Flash Cache (AFC) is a feature in HPE 3PAR StoreServ arrays that improves performance for random reads by using flash storage as an extended cache. This feature is especially beneficial for workloads with high random read activity, as it accelerates read operations by storing frequently accessed data in the flash cache, reducing latency and improving overall performance.
