Exam Topics

The Cisco 300-715 Exam measures the applicants' expertise related to a variety of knowledge areas. The skills measured within this certification test can be grouped into seven domains that are outlined below:

- Architecture & Deployment – 10%

This topic checks the expertise of the examinees in configuring personas as well as describing deployment options.

- Policy Enforcement – 25%

Within this domain, the test takers are required to demonstrate that they are capable of configuring native LDAP and AD; describing identity store options (including LDAP, AD, PKI, OTP, Smart Card, and Local); configuring wired/wireless 802.1X network access. Besides that, the students should be conversant with configuring 802.1X phasing deployment (including monitor mode, closed mode, low impact); configuring network access devices; applying MAB; configuring Cisco TrustSec; configuring policies such as authorization and authentication profiles.

- Web Auth and Guest Services – 15%

To answer the questions from this subject area, the applicants need to have the ability to customize web authentication, customize guest access services as well as customize guest and sponsor portals.

- Profiler – 15%

This section encompasses such skills as implementing profiler services; implementing probes; implementing CoA; configuring endpoint identity management.

- BYOD – 15%

Here the learners must prove that they possess competency in describing Cisco BYOD functionality (including solution components, utilization cases & requirements, as well as BYOD flow); customizing BYOD device on-boarding with the help of internal CA with Cisco wireless LAN controllers as well as Cisco switches; configuring certificates for BYOD; configuring allow list/block list.

- Endpoint Compliance – 10%

This objective requires that the candidates have an understanding of describing posture services, endpoint compliance, as well as client provisioning. They should also be conversant with configuring posture policy, conditions, client provisioning; configuring the compliance module; configuring Cisco ISE posture agents as well as operational modes; describing supplicant, authenticator, server, and supplicant options.

- Network Access Device Administration – 10%

This last part of the certification test comprises of such abilities as comparing AAA protocols and configuring TACACS+ device administration & command authorization.

The percentages provided next to the domains' titles indicate the share of the questions in the exam content. During your preparation for the test, you need to pay special attention to the topics with higher weights. However, only the mastery of all these objectives guarantees success in Cisco 300-715. Note that the above-mentioned sections are just the provisional guidelines for the candidates and other subject areas can be included in the specific delivery of the exam without any notice.
