CompTIA Cloud+ (CV0-004) Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q254-Q259):

NEW QUESTION # 254

A company needs to migrate the storage system and batch jobs from the local storage system to a public cloud provider. Which of the following accounts will MOST likely be created to run the batch processes?

- A. User
- B. Role-based
- C. LDAP
- D. Service

Answer: D

Explanation:

A service account is a special type of account that is used to run tasks on behalf of a user or application. It is typically used for batch processing jobs, as it allows the jobs to run without the need for a human user to be logged in.

In this case, the company needs to migrate the storage system and batch jobs from the local storage system to a public cloud provider. The batch jobs will need to be able to access the storage system on the cloud provider, so a service account will need to be created to run the jobs.

NEW QUESTION # 255

A cloud engineer is concerned about command-and-control (C2) communication out of a cloud network over HTTPS. Which of the following should the cloud engineer implement to most efficiently identify the type of communication?

- A. Cloud flow logs
- B. Traffic mirroring
- C. Hourly cron listing connections
- D. Inline IPS

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 256

Which of the following network protocols is generally used in a NAS environment?

- A. iSCSI
- B. BGP
- C. RDP
- D. TCP/IP

Answer: D

Explanation:

The network protocol generally used in a NAS (Network Attached Storage) environment is TCP/IP (Transmission Control Protocol/Internet Protocol). NAS devices are accessed over a network rather than being directly connected to the computer, and they utilize the TCP/IP protocol to enable this network communication.

NEW QUESTION # 257

Which of the following cloud-native architecture designs is the most easily maintained, decentralized, and decoupled?

- A. Hybrid cloud
- B. Microservices
- C. Monolithic
- D. Mainframe

Answer: B

Explanation:

Microservices architecture is a design approach to build a single application as a suite of small services, each running in its own process and communicating with lightweight mechanisms, often an HTTP resource API. This design is decentralized and each service is fully decoupled, allowing for easier maintenance and scaling. Each microservice is built around a specific business capability and can be deployed independently, unlike monolithic architectures that are typically centralized and less flexible.

NEW QUESTION # 258

A company implements a web farm with 100 servers behind an application load balancer. During scaling events, new web servers that are placed in service have not loaded all their modules, which causes some requests to the web farm to fail. Which of the following should the cloud engineer implement to address the scaling issue?

- A. Load balancer passthrough
- B. Event-based scaling
- C. Instance warm-up
- D. Scheduled scaling

Answer: C

Explanation:

Implementing an instance warm-up period can address the issue of new web servers not having all modules loaded during scaling events. This warm-up period allows new instances to fully initialize and start serving traffic only when they are ready, preventing failed requests.

Scaling strategies and their operational impact, including the concept of instance warm-up, are covered under cloud infrastructure management in the CompTIA Cloud+ curriculum.
