NETA Level 2 Certified Assistant Electrical Testing Specialist Sample Questions (Q54-Q59):

NEW QUESTION # 54

A tagout device must be able to withstand a minimum pull force of:

- A. 75 lb
- B. 50 lb
- C. 30 lb
- D. 25 lb

Answer: B

Explanation:

Tagout devices are required to be durable enough to remain attached and legible under typical industrial conditions. A common OSHA-based minimum strength requirement cited in training and field practice is that tagout devices must withstand at least 50 pounds of force to prevent accidental detachment or removal.

NETA Level 2 objectives reinforce that LOTO is not paperwork-it is a physical hazard control program.

Tags must be secured using non-reusable, self-locking means such as a nylon cable tie that meets strength requirements. If a tag can be easily pulled off, it fails as a control measure and increases the likelihood of unauthorized operation.

Even though tagout does not physically prevent operation like lockout, it still must provide reliable warning and procedural control.

Ensuring tag integrity is part of the technician's responsibility when applying or verifying hazardous energy control practices before testing or commissioning.

NEW QUESTION # 55

Arc-flash incident energy is expressed in:

- A. Amperes
- B. Volts per meter
- C. Joules
- D. Calories per square centimeter

Answer: D

Explanation:

Incident energy quantifies thermal exposure from an arc flash and is expressed in cal/cm². This value is used to determine PPE requirements and safe work practices.

NEW QUESTION # 56

What is the purpose of a blow-out coil in a circuit breaker?

- A. Reduce contact resistance
- B. Form an electromagnetic field to help extinguish the arc
- C. Limit short-circuit current
- D. Increase contact pressure

Answer: B

Explanation:

A blow-out coil produces a magnetic field that forces the arc into an arc chute, lengthening and cooling it to aid extinction. NETA Level 2 technicians must understand arc-control mechanisms when inspecting breaker design and evaluating interruption performance.

NEW QUESTION # 57

In a zone-interlocked low-voltage circuit breaker scheme, if the breaker responsible for clearing a fault fails to operate, which statement is correct?

- A. The downstream breaker will trip
- B. The upstream breaker will trip immediately
- C. The fault will remain uncleared
- D. All breakers will trip simultaneously

Answer: A

Explanation:

Zone-selective interlocking (ZSI) improves coordination by allowing downstream devices to trip first while restraining upstream devices. If the downstream breaker fails to clear the fault, restraint signals are removed and the next upstream breaker trips to isolate the fault.

NETA Level 2 technicians must understand this fail-safe behavior when commissioning protection systems and validating coordination logic.

NEW QUESTION # 58

A delta-connected load has a phase impedance of 12 Ω and is supplied from a 480 V line-to-line source. What is the line current?

- A. 40.0 A
- B. 69.3 A
- C. 27.7 A
- D. 23.1 A

Answer: B

Explanation:

For delta systems:

Phase voltage = Line voltage = 480 V

Phase current = $V / Z = 480 / 12 = 40$ A

Line current = $\sqrt{3} \times$ Phase current

= $1.732 \times 40 = 69.3$ A

NETA Level 2 technicians must correctly distinguish between phase and line quantities when evaluating three-phase systems, as incorrect assumptions frequently lead to misinterpreted test results.
