NEW QUESTION # 43

A customer is deploying VMware Aria Operations for Logs in their data centers. The customer has the following:

Three data centers in three geographical locations. Average latency is approximately 20 ms.

L2 stretched networks are not available.

The customer has the following requirement:

Logs collected from any datacenter must be protected against site failure.

Which three design decisions would the architect choose to achieve the requirement? (Choose three.)

- A. Size a VMware Aria Operations for Logs cluster to accommodate logs from all data centers.
- B. Deploy a VMware Aria Operations for Logs cluster in each data center.
- C. Configure log protection to tolerate one data center failure.
- D. Deploy a VMware Aria Operations for Logs stretched across all data centers.
- E. Configure forwarding filters to forward logs only once.
- F. Configure log forwarding from each data center to another one.

Answer: A,B,F

Explanation:

Deploying a cluster in each data center ensures local log collection. Sizing a cluster to handle all logs ensures central protection if needed. Configuring log forwarding between data centers provides redundancy, so logs are protected even in case of a site failure.

NEW QUESTION # 44

An architect is responsible for creating the design for a Cloud Monitoring solution that will be used to monitor a VMware Software-Defined Data Center.

Which two statements below, provided by the Service Owner, would be considered as non-functional requirements? (Choose two.)

- D. The solution must be redundant to a minimum of N+1 including during planned maintenance.
- E. The Recovery Time Objective (RTO) of solution is 4 hours.
