Relativity Certified Administrator Sample Questions (Q29-Q34):

NEW QUESTION # 29

You need a user to perform some admin operations, including creating groups, managing users, and assigning permissions. However, you do not want them to review the Processing or Production queues. How should you configure the user's permissions?

- A. Add the user to the System Admin group and configure the System Admin group to restrict permissions to access Process and Production queues.
- B. Add the user to the Workspace Admin group.
- C. Add them to an instance-level group with permissions to create groups, manage users, and assign permissions.
- D. Add the user to the System Admin group.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 30

How can you configure users to be automatically disabled?

- A. At the Instance level, use the User Expiration settings.
- B. At the User level, use the Disable on Date settings.
- C. At the User level, use the User Activity settings.

- D. At the Instance level, set an expiration date for the SSO identity provider.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The correct answer is A. At the User level, use the Disable on Date settings. Relativity's Users documentation states that Disable on Date (UTC) is the field used to auto-disable users on a specific future date. It also explains that you can set this field when creating or editing an individual user, and that users will be automatically logged out and disabled on the specified date and time.

The other options are not the documented built-in mechanism for this feature. User Activity in Security Center allows admins to inspect and disable users, but it is not the setting used to preconfigure automatic disablement on a future date. Likewise, the question's instance-level settings in options B and D are not the Relativity feature described in the official Users documentation for automatic disablement. Therefore, the correct answer is Disable on Date at the user level .

NEW QUESTION # 31

When exporting a saved search using Import/Export, how can you maintain the hierarchy of multiple-choice lists?

- A. There is not a way to maintain the information.
- B. Export as CSV only so Excel recognizes the order.
- C. Sort the saved search on the Multiple Choice field.
- D. Check the box to export multiple-choice fields as nested.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The correct answer is D. Check the box to export multiple-choice fields as nested. Relativity's official export documentation states that Export Multiple Choice Fields as Nested is the option used to maintain the hierarchy of Relativity multiple-choice lists during export. It further explains that the nested value delimiter is a backslash, which preserves the parent-child structure of those choices in the exported data.

This means the hierarchy is not lost by default if the appropriate export option is selected, so option A is incorrect. Sorting on the field does not preserve the nested hierarchy, making option B wrong. Exporting as CSV for Excel recognition is also not the documented mechanism, so option C is incorrect. From an RCA and data loading standpoint, this setting matters because exported hierarchical values often need to be re-used downstream, re-imported, or validated in a way that preserves their original structure.

Without the nested export option, the relationship between parent and child values may not be represented correctly. Therefore, the proper way to maintain multiple-choice hierarchy when exporting a saved search through Import/Export is to check the box to export multiple-choice fields as nested .

NEW QUESTION # 32

What is the default production sort order?

- A. Custodian
- B. Family group
- C. Artifact ID
- D. Control number

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is A. Artifact ID. Relativity's official Production Sets documentation states that in the Sorting section of a production, if no custom sort criteria are selected, the default sort order is Artifact ID , which Relativity describes as the load order of the documents. This is the platform's documented default for productions.

This is an important administrative detail because production sort order affects how documents are sequenced when a production is generated. Relativity also notes that when you apply a custom sort order, family groups are not kept together automatically , so administrators need to design sort strategies carefully if they want a specific production sequence. But absent any special configuration, Relativity defaults to Artifact ID.

The other options are not the documented default. Family group may be relevant in review workflows, but not as the production default sort order. Control number is also not the starting sort value because control numbers may be assigned independently of the production sort configuration. Custodian is a common field for review and QC, but again not the production default. Therefore, the correct answer is A. Artifact ID .

NEW QUESTION # 33

What dtSearch syntax properly creates a phonic search for the word pear to return pair and pare?

- A. #pear
- B. 'pear
- C. $pear
- D. pear*

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is C. #pear . Relativity's Using dtSearch syntax options documentation states that phonic searching uses the pound sign (#) in front of a word. The documentation gives the exact example that a phonic search for pear also finds pair and pare , which directly matches the question.

The other choices represent different or invalid syntax. pear* is a wildcard-based pattern, not a phonic search.

The apostrophe form is not the documented phonic operator, and $pear is not the phonic syntax in Relativity dtSearch. Therefore, the correct syntax for a phonic search returning pair and pare is #pear .
