NEW QUESTION # 138
Choose the correct sentence regarding the users of a system.

- A. Internal users are inside the system while using it.
- B. Misusers are referred to as personas.
- C. All the other options are wrong.
- D. External users are normally aware of the system being developed.

Answer: C

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:
Internal users are people within the developing or owning organization (employees, management, subcontractors), not literally "inside the system", so A is wrong. External users are customers or the public; often they are numerous, not individually identifiable and may not even know a system is being developed for them, so B is incorrect. Misusers are actors who intentionally try to misuse or attack the system (e.g., hackers); personas are fictional profiles representing typical user groups, so C confuses two distinct concepts. Therefore all given statements are incorrect, making D the right answer.

NEW QUESTION # 139
Choose the correct option regarding elicitation techniques.

- A. During a brainstorm, quality should prevail over quantity.
- B. Apprenticing is similar to field observation, with the main difference that it is participatory.
- C. Artifact-based techniques are heavily dependent on stakeholder participation.
- D. Reuse of requirements is not an elicitation technique.

Answer: B

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:
The handbook categorizes elicitation techniques into stakeholder-based, observation-based, artifact-based and creativity techniques. Reuse of requirements is an artifact-based elicitation technique that mines existing specs and systems, so A is false. Artifact-based techniques rely on existing documents and systems rather than direct stakeholder participation, making C incorrect. Brainstorming emphasizes generating many ideas without early criticism-quantity over quality-to encourage creativity, so D is also wrong. Apprenticing is indeed a participatory observation method where the requirements engineer temporarily works as an "apprentice" alongside users, so B correctly describes it.
