NEW QUESTION # 130

You are building a solution in Azure that will use Azure AI Language service to process sensitive customer data.

You need to ensure that only specific Azure processes can access the Language service. The solution must minimize administrative.

What should you include in the solution?

- A. Virtual network rules
- B. A virtual network gateway

- C. Azure Application Gateway
- D. IPsec rules

Answer: A

Explanation:

You're using Azure AI Language with sensitive data and need to ensure only specific Azure processes (subnets) can access the resource with minimal administration.

Configure Virtual Network (VNet) rules on the Azure AI (Cognitive Services) resource and enable service endpoints (Microsoft.CognitiveServices) on the selected subnets. This restricts access to requests originating from those VNets/subnets-no need to deploy or manage gateways or IPsec tunnels, keeping operational overhead low. If even stronger isolation is needed later, you can move to private endpoints, but VNet rules + service endpoints meet the requirement and minimize admin effort.

Other options:

- * A. Azure Application Gateway - L7 load balancer; does not restrict service access by itself.
- * B. IPsec rules - would require VPN/ExpressRoute setup and more admin overhead.
- * C. Virtual network gateway - used for cross-premises connectivity, not needed just to restrict access to the Language service.

Microsoft References

- * Azure AI services network isolation: virtual networks, firewall, and service endpoints.
- * Configure virtual network rules for Cognitive Services (Microsoft.CognitiveServices service endpoint).
- * Private endpoints for Azure AI services (for future stronger isolation, if needed).
