NEW QUESTION # 287

The project manager is acting as the team manager and needs to control the work of a team member who reports to them. Which management product should the project manager use to control this work?

- A. A stage plan

- B. A work breakdown structure
- C. The project management team structure
- D. A work package description

Answer: D

Explanation:

When the project manager is also acting as the team manager, they should use a 'Work Package Description' to control the work of a team member. This management product details what is to be delivered, the reporting requirements, and the tolerances within which the team member must work, providing a clear definition and control mechanism for delegated tasks. References: PRINCE2 7 Foundation guide on management products, specifically Work Packages.

NEW QUESTION # 288

Which level of management sets the project level tolerances?

- A. Corporate, programme management or the customer
- B. Team manager
- C. Project manager
- D. Project board

Answer: A

Explanation:

The level of management that sets the project level tolerances in PRINCE2 is corporate, programme management, or the customer. These project-level tolerances are defined to set the allowable limits of variation for the project's objectives, which the Project Manager must work within. This helps ensure that the project remains aligned with strategic goals and customer or corporate standards.
