NEW QUESTION # 63
Which application component involved in conversational bots categorizes each request in the objective the user is trying to accomplish?

- A. intent classification
- B. role classification
- C. entity recognition
- D. domain classification

Answer: A

Explanation:
Intent classification is the component in a conversational bot that determines the user's objective - what action the user wants to perform (e.g.,
"schedule meeting", "check voicemail"). It categorizes the request so the bot can respond appropriately.
