ACRP Certified Professional Exam Sample Questions (Q72-Q77):

NEW QUESTION # 72

Per protocol, participants are scheduled to receive IP, which is calculated based on the participant's current weight. Unknown to the pharmacist, a participant recently lost 15 pounds and was overdosed as a result. What is the FIRST action the CRC must take to ensure the participant's safety?

- A. Report a protocol deviation to the IRB/IEC.
- B. Notify the PI.
- C. Call the participant to return for an unscheduled visit.
- D. Notify the sponsor.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The CRC's first responsibility is to immediately inform the Principal Investigator (PI), who is responsible for the participant's medical care. The PI will assess the situation, determine the potential risk, and initiate appropriate clinical actions to ensure the participant's safety. This may include medical evaluation or adjusting the dosing regimen.

According to GCP guidelines, any issue that may affect participant safety should be promptly communicated to the PI to ensure appropriate medical management.

"The investigator must be informed immediately of any events that could compromise participant safety, allowing for prompt clinical decision-making." Objectives:

- * Ensure rapid response to dosing errors.
- * Maintain participant safety as a priority.

NEW QUESTION # 73

A deferred consent can take place in which of the following situations?

- A. In an emergency situation only, even when this process is not described in the protocol, but the sponsor approves the consent process.
- B. Only when the PI approves such a consent process, regardless of the emergency situation described in the protocol.
- C. In an emergency situation only, when this process is described in the protocol and has received permission from the ethics committee.
- D. Only when the PI approves such a consent process immediately prior to patient enrollment, regardless of the situation being classed as emergency.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Deferred consent is permissible in emergency situations where immediate intervention is necessary and obtaining prior consent is not feasible. However, this practice must be explicitly described in the protocol and approved by the ethics committee. This ensures that the rights of patients are protected even in urgent circumstances.

GCP guidelines emphasize that deferred consent is only allowed when pre-approved by the ethics committee as part of the protocol for emergency interventions.

"In emergencies, deferred consent is permitted only if outlined in the protocol and approved by the ethics committee, ensuring compliance with ethical standards." Objectives:

- * Protect patient rights in emergency research.
- * Ensure ethical approval for deferred consent.

NEW QUESTION # 74

A double-blind randomized Phase III trial seeks to recruit 500 subjects in 2 years. At the end of the first year, 150 subjects have been enrolled. Monitoring reports from the first year note 50% of subjects screened were screen failures due to exclusionary lab values. What action should the sponsor take?

- A. Evaluate the screen failures to determine if the protocol needs revision.
- B. Allocate additional monitoring resources to the trial.

- C. Re-train investigators on recruitment obligations.
- D. Reduce the target sample size based on feedback from the sites.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The high rate of screen failures indicates that the inclusion/exclusion criteria may be too stringent or not appropriately defined. The sponsor should evaluate the reasons for these failures and determine whether the protocol needs adjustment. Revising the criteria may increase recruitment efficiency without compromising the scientific validity of the study.

GCP guidelines advise reviewing and possibly revising protocols when screen failure rates are significantly high to ensure feasible recruitment.

"If a high number of screen failures occurs, the sponsor should evaluate the inclusion/exclusion criteria and consider protocol revisions." Objectives:

- * Improve recruitment efficiency.
- * Adapt protocol criteria to real-world conditions.

NEW QUESTION # 75

A printed, optical, or electronic document designed to record all of the protocol-required information and is transmitted to the sponsor is called a:

- A. CRF.
- B. Source document.
- C. PRO.
- D. Worksheet.

Answer: A

Explanation:

A Case Report Form (CRF) is a tool used in clinical trials to collect data as specified by the protocol. It is a printed, optical, or electronic document designed to record all protocol-required information for each trial subject. CRFs are crucial for ensuring that the data collected during the trial is accurate, complete, and consistent with the protocol.

This answer follows GCP guidelines, which describe CRFs as essential documents for capturing and transmitting study data to the sponsor.

"A Case Report Form (CRF) is a printed, optical, or electronic document specifically designed to record all protocol-required information to be reported to the sponsor on each trial subject." Objectives:

- * Understand the role of CRFs in clinical trials.
- * Ensure accurate and complete data collection.

NEW QUESTION # 76

When determining whether a protocol deviation (PD) is reportable to the IRB/IEC, the PI should take into consideration whether the:

- A. PD affected participant safety.
- B. PD affected participant recruitment.
- C. Participant verbally agreed to the PD.
- D. Sponsor approved the PD.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The primary factor in determining whether a protocol deviation should be reported to the IRB/IEC is whether the deviation impacts participant safety or the integrity of the study data. Any deviation that could pose a risk to participants must be reported promptly to ensure ongoing ethical oversight.

GCP guidelines mandate reporting of any protocol deviations that affect safety or data integrity to the IRB/IEC.

"Protocol deviations that impact the safety of participants or the integrity of the study must be reported to the IRB/IEC." Objectives:

- * Maintain participant safety.
- * Ensure regulatory compliance through prompt reporting.
