Fortinet NSE 5 - FortiNAC-F 7.6 Administrator Sample Questions (Q23-Q28):

NEW QUESTION # 23

While troubleshooting a network connectivity issue, an administrator determines that a device was being automatically provisioned to an incorrect VLAN.

Where would the administrator look to identify when and why FortiNAC-F made the network access change?

- A. The Port Changes view
- B. The Admin Auditing view
- C. The Reports view
- D. The Security Event view

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Port Changes view records provisioning actions performed by FortiNAC-F, including VLAN changes, along with the associated reason and timestamp. This allows the administrator to determine when the network access change occurred and what triggered it.

NEW QUESTION # 24

An organization wants to add a FortiNAC-F Manager to simplify their large FortiNAC-F deployment. Which two policy types can be managed globally? (Choose two.)

- A. Network Access
- B. Endpoint Compliance
- C. Authentication
- D. Supplicant EasyConnect

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

A FortiNAC-F Manager allows centralized management of authentication policies so user and device authentication behavior is consistent across all managed CAs. It also supports global network access policies, enabling uniform access control and enforcement logic to be applied throughout the entire deployment from a single management point.

NEW QUESTION # 25

When creating a device profiling rule, what is an advantage of modeling the endpoint as a device in the inventory view?

- A. The device will have historic connection logs
- B. The devices can have scheduled connection status polling.
- C. The devices can be associated with a logged on user.
- D. The devices will have connection logs.

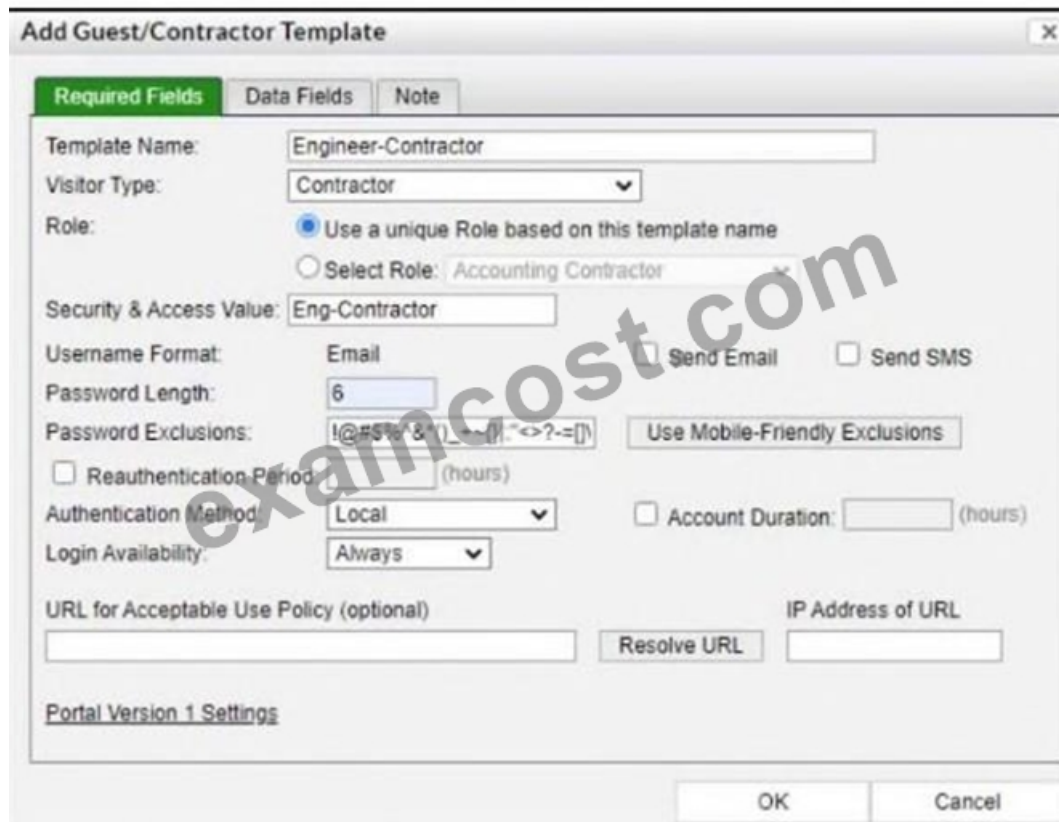

Answer: A

Explanation:

Modeling the endpoint as a device in the inventory allows FortiNAC-F to retain historical connection data for that device, providing visibility into past connectivity events and behavior over time.

NEW QUESTION # 26

When a contractor account is created using this template, which value is set in the accounts Role field?

- A. Contractor
- B. Accounting Contractor
- C. Engineer-Contractor
- D. Eng-Contractor

Answer: C

Explanation:

The template is configured to use a unique role based on the template name. Therefore, when the account is created, the Role field is automatically set to the template name, which is Engineer-Contractor.

NEW QUESTION # 27

Two FortiNAC-F devices have been configured as a 1+1 HA pair. The primary server went offline and a successful failover to the secondary has occurred.

What happens if the primary server comes back online?

- A. The secondary server will update the primary and the servers will load balance until an administrator forces the primary to resume full control.
- B. The primary and secondary servers will resume communication and the secondary will maintain control.
- C. The primary server will determine that the secondary has control and power down for maintenance.
- D. After five successful heartbeats between the servers, the primary server will resume control.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In a 1+1 HA configuration, once failover has occurred and the secondary assumes control, it remains the active controller when the original primary comes back online. The restored primary rejoins as the standby unit, and control is not automatically reverted.
