Esri ArcGIS Pro Associate 2025 Sample Questions (Q25-Q30):

NEW QUESTION # 25

A GIS analyst is working with a dataset that contains state information for the entire country of the United States. The analyst needs to run analysis and create maps for only the State of Idaho. The analyst does not want to manage multiple datasets. Which method should the analyst use?

- A. Create a Definition Query on the layer Where 'State' = "Idaho"
- B. Change symbology to Unique Values > Add only Idaho to Classes
- C. Select Idaho in the map and use Export Features

Answer: A

Explanation:

Definition Queries filter the data at the layer level based on SQL expressions without creating new datasets.

This allows the analyst to limit the data being displayed and analyzed to Idaho while continuing to use the full dataset behind the scenes.

* Changing symbology (Option A) changes display but does not filter the data for analysis.

* Export Features (Option C) creates a separate dataset, which the analyst wants to avoid.

Therefore, the correct answer is B.

NEW QUESTION # 26

A GIS analyst receives a dataset of precipitation change over the past five years, by country, for the entire world. The analyst is creating a map that will display this information. A requirement of the map is to preserve the area of each country. Which projection should be used?

- A. Mercator
- B. Equal Earth
- C. Robinson

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Equal Earth projection is specifically designed to preserve area across the globe, making it ideal for thematic mapping of global datasets like precipitation change by country. It balances accurate area representation with a visually pleasing appearance for world maps.

* Mercator (Option A) preserves angles but distorts area, especially near the poles.

* Robinson (Option C) is visually pleasing for world maps but distorts both shape and area.

Therefore, the correct answer is B.

NEW QUESTION # 27

A GIS technician creates a domain that will be used in a feature class where field workers will specify the species of tree when they perform an inspection. The technician made some mistakes and needs to edit the domain. What can the technician edit?

- A. Domain type
- B. Codes and values
- C. Field type

Answer: B

Explanation:

After a domain is created, the codes and values (descriptions) can be edited to correct or update the domain entries. However, the field type and domain type (range or coded value) cannot be changed once the domain has been applied to a dataset.

* Field type (Option A) cannot be modified after creation.

* Domain type (Option C) also cannot be changed after creation.

Therefore, the correct answer is B.

NEW QUESTION # 28

A GIS specialist creates a model tool to allow others to run analysis on their own data. When users open the model tool, they are unable to configure input data or output location.

How should the specialist expose this functionality to users?

- A. Right-click the tool in the model > Create Variable > From Parameter
- B. Right-click the model variables > Open > Properties
- C. Right-click the model variables > Parameter

Answer: C

Explanation:

To make variables editable by users when running a model, you must right-click the model variables and check "Parameter." This exposes the variable as an input or output parameter in the tool interface.

* Create Variable > From Parameter (Option A) is used when building the model, not when exposing variables.

* Open > Properties (Option C) accesses variable properties but does not expose parameters for tool users.

Therefore, the correct answer is B.

NEW QUESTION # 29

A GIS analyst needs to conduct overlay analysis between two feature classes. All input features must be kept while pulling over only the attributes of the second feature class where geometric intersection exists.

Which tool will provide the expected result?

- A. Identity
- B. Union
- C. Intersect

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Identity tool retains all features from the first input layer and transfers attributes from the second input layer only where intersections occur. This ensures all original features remain while appending intersecting attributes.

* Intersect (Option A) keeps only overlapping areas.

* Union (Option C) keeps all features and all attributes, regardless of intersection.

Therefore, the correct answer is B.
