Juniper Junos, Associate (JNCIA-Junos) Sample Questions (Q108-Q113):

NEW QUESTION # 108

You have logged on to a Junos device and are at the operational mode prompt. Which two commands are used at this prompt? (Choose two.)

- A. request system shutdown
- B. show interface ge-0/0/0
- C. set interface ge-0/0/0 unit 0 family inet
- D. run show interface terse

Answer: B

Explanation:

At the operational mode prompt on a Junos device, you can use various commands to view the device's status and request system operations. The show interface ge-0/0/0 command is used to display information about a specific interface, while the request system shutdown command is used to properly shut down the device.

The set command is used in configuration mode, not operational mode, and the run command is used to execute operational mode commands from configuration mode.

NEW QUESTION # 109

When considering routing policies, which two statements are correct? (Choose two.)

- A. An import routing policy for BGP determines which received prefix advertisements are placed in the routing information base.
- B. Policy terms are evaluated from top to bottom with the most restrictive action taken of all the matching terms.
- C. Routing policies are applied to interfaces as input or export filters.
- D. Policy terms are evaluated from top to bottom with action taken on the first match found.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

Routing policies in Junos OS are crucial for controlling route advertisements and path selection. The correct answers are B and C. An import routing policy for BGP determines which received prefix advertisements are placed in the routing information base (RIB), and policy terms are evaluated from top to bottom, with action taken on the first match found. This sequential evaluation allows for precise control over routing decisions.

NEW QUESTION # 110

Which statement is correct about the candidate configuration in the Junos OS?

- A. It contains the most recent rescue configuration
- B. It contains changes that have not been committed
- C. It is created when you execute a commit from the CLI
- D. It is only used to restore the configuration to factory default settings

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Junos OS, there are two main configuration databases:

* Candidate configuration: a working copy of the configuration that holds any uncommitted changes.

All configuration edits are made here.

* Active configuration: the running configuration that the system currently uses.

When you issue a commit command, the candidate configuration is promoted to active, replacing the previous configuration. Until that happens, all changes remain in the candidate configuration and do not affect device operation.

From Junos Fundamentals Guide:

"The candidate configuration is a separate copy of the configuration database. All changes are made to the candidate configuration and do not take effect until they are committed." References:

NEW QUESTION # 111

What will the request system configuration rescue save command do?

- A. It activates the rescue configuration.
- B. It saves the candidate configuration as the rescue configuration.
- C. It saves a configuration version prior to the configuration most recently committed as the rescue configuration.
- D. It saves the most recently committed configuration as the rescue configuration.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The request system configuration rescue save command in Junos OS saves the most recently committed configuration as the rescue configuration. This rescue configuration can be used to recover the device if future configurations cause issues. It ensures there is a stable, known-good configuration to fall back on, which is crucial in network management and troubleshooting.

References:

* "rescue : save configurations as the rescue: request system configuration save(saves the current configs as a rescue configs)" from Useful Juniper Commands.txt.

* Juniper official documentation: Configuring and Activating a Rescue Configuration.

NEW QUESTION # 112

Which two fields are you required to enter when you create a new user account? (Choose two.)

- A. username
- B. user ID
- C. full name
- D. login class

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

In Junos OS, when creating a new user account, the minimum required fields are the username and the login class. The username is the identifier for the account, while the login class specifies the level of access or permissions the user has on the device. Login classes allow for the differentiation between various roles, such as read-only access or full administrative rights. Other information, such as full name or user ID, is optional and not strictly necessary for the creation of a functional user account.
