Your customer currently uses a VMware-based Veeam backup proxy. They would like to perform a direct backup from their FC-connected Alletra 9000 array. What could be the reason for the backup falling back to network mode?

- A. Direct backup from an HPE Alletra 9000 array requires an Advanced Backup LTU
- B. HPE Alletra 9000 storage array WS API connection timeout value must be increased
- C. Direct backup from a FC-connected array is only available on physical server-based backup proxy
- D. VM-based backup proxy has not enough RAM and more must be assigned in VM properties

Answer: C

Explanation:

If a customer is using a VMware-based Veeam backup proxy and attempts to perform a direct backup from their Fibre Channel (FC)-connected HPE Alletra 9000 array, but the backup falls back to network mode, the likely reason is that direct backup from an FC-connected array is only supported on a physical server-based backup proxy. VMware-based (virtual) proxies do not support direct FC connections, which is why the backup process defaults to network mode. To achieve direct backup via FC, the customer would need to configure a physical server as the backup proxy.
