IIBA Entry Certificate in Business Analysis (ECBA) Sample Questions (Q159-Q164):

NEW QUESTION # 159
The likelihood that the requirement will change because it requires further analysis is termed as:

- A. dependency.
- B. penalty.
- C. benefit.
- D. stability.

Answer: D

Explanation:
In the context of business analysis, the term "stability" refers to the likelihood that a requirement will change due to the need for further analysis or because stakeholders have not reached a consensus. Stability is a critical attribute to assess as it impacts the prioritization, planning, and management of requirements. Requirements with low stability may require additional attention, analysis, or engagement with stakeholders to clarify, refine, and agree upon the needs to ensure they are well-understood and stable enough to be implemented effectively without significant changes in the future.

NEW QUESTION # 160
When should prioritization of requirements take place?

- A. At the very beginning of an initiative only
- B. After the maintain requirements task has been completed
- C. Continually throughout the initiative
- D. After the maintain requirements and trace requirements tasks have been completed

Answer: C

Explanation:
Prioritization of requirements is not a one-time activity but a continuous process that occurs throughout the initiative. This approach allows for adjustments as new information is discovered, priorities shift, and the project evolves. It ensures that the most current and relevant requirements are being addressed at any given time, aligning with the changing needs and values of the business and stakeholders.
