- A. Apex trigger on Contact that calls the Account trigger to normalize the address
- B. Apex trigger on Account that calls the Contact trigger to normalize the address
- C. Apex triggers on Contact and Account that call a helper class to normalize the address
- D. Apex triggers on Contact and Account that normalize the address

Answer: D

- A. Two Lightning Components leveraging Application Events
- B. Two Lightning Components leveraging Platform Events
- C. A single visualforce Page leveraging Platform Events

Answer: C,D

NEW QUESTION # 189

For compliance purposes, a company is required to track long-term product usage in their org. The information that they need to log will be collected from more than one object and, over time, they predict they will have hundreds of millions of records.

What should a developer use to implement this?

- A. Field audit trail
- B. Setup audit trail
- C. Big objects
- D. Field history tracking

Answer: C

Explanation:

The best way to implement this is to use big objects. Big objects are custom objects that can store and manage massive amounts of data on the Salesforce platform. Big objects can handle hundreds of millions of records and support asynchronous SOQL queries. Big objects are also optimized for performance and scalability, and can be integrated with other Salesforce features such as reports, dashboards, and triggers. Setup audit trail, field audit trail, and field history tracking are not suitable for this scenario, as they have limitations on the number of fields, records, or retention periods that they can track. Reference: [Big Objects], [Trailhead: Big Objects Basics]

NEW QUESTION # 190

A company has a web page that needs to get Account record information, such as name, website, and employee number. The Salesforce record ID is known to the web page and it uses JavaScript to retrieve the account information.

Which method of integration is optimal?

- A. Apex REST web service
- B. SOAP API
- C. REST API
- D. Apex SOAP web service

Answer: D

Explanation:

The optimal method of integration for the scenario is an Apex SOAP web service. An Apex SOAP web service is a custom Apex class that exposes methods that can be invoked from an external system using SOAP protocol. An Apex SOAP web service can be used to expose Salesforce data and functionality to a web page that uses JavaScript, as long as the web page has access to the WSDL (Web Service Description Language) file that defines the web service. An Apex SOAP web service can also leverage the benefits of Apex, such as governor limits, testing, and debugging. A SOAP API is a standard Salesforce API that allows external systems to access and manipulate Salesforce data and metadata using SOAP protocol. A SOAP API can also be used to integrate with a web page that uses JavaScript, but it would require more coding and configuration than an Apex SOAP web service, as it would not be customized for the specific use case. An Apex REST web service is a custom Apex class that exposes methods that can be invoked from an external system using RESTful principles and JSON or XML formats. An Apex REST web service can also be used to integrate with a web page that uses JavaScript, but it would not be optimal for the scenario, as it would require the web page to parse the JSON or XML response and handle the authentication and authorization. A REST API is a standard Salesforce API that allows external systems to access and manipulate Salesforce data and metadata using RESTful principles and JSON or XML formats. A REST API can also be used to integrate with a web page that uses JavaScript, but it would not be optimal for the scenario, as it would require the web page to parse the JSON or XML response and handle the authentication and authorization.
