- A. More than 15 minutes.
- B. Between 5 and 10 minutes.
- C. Less than 5 minutes.
- D. Between 10 and 15 minutes.

Answer: D

Explanation:
The typical machine learning model deployment process in UiPath AI Center usually takes between 10-15 minutes1. This process involves wrapping the model in UiPath's serving framework and deploying it within a namespace on AI Fabric's Kubernetes cluster that is only accessible by your tenant1. Please note that the actual time may vary depending on the complexity of the model and other factors.

NEW QUESTION # 120
Why should using the Search feature be limited when training in UiPath Communications Mining?

- A. It could increase model coverage.
- B. It could increase model bias.
- C. It could decrease model bias.
- D. It could decrease model coverage.

Answer: B

Explanation:
In UiPath Communications Mining, over-reliance on the Search feature during the training process can lead to an increase in model bias. This happens because using search-based filtering to identify and label examples might not represent the full diversity of the data. The model could be trained on a skewed subset of the data, causing it to favor certain patterns or keywords, and thus biasing the model towards specific types of data rather than learning to generalize effectively across all data.
Limiting the use of search ensures that the training process considers a broader and more representative sample of the data, which reduces the risk of introducing bias into the model and helps it generalize better to new, unseen communications.

NEW QUESTION # 121
Which is a high-level view of the tabs within an AI Center project?

- A. Dashboard. Datasets, Data Labeling. ML Packages. Pipelines, ML Skills, and ML Logs.
- B. Dashboard. Datasets. ML Packages. ML Training. ML Evaluation, and ML Logs.
- C. Datasets. Data Labeling. ML Packages. Pipelines, and ML Skills.
- D. Datasets, Data Labeling. ML Packages, ML Training, ML Evaluation, ML Skills, and ML Logs.

Answer: A

Explanation:
A high-level view of the tabs within an AI Center project is as follows:
* Dashboard: This tab provides an overview of the project's status, such as the number of datasets, pipelines, packages, skills, and logs, as well as the AI Units consumption and quota.
* Datasets: This tab enables you to upload, view, and manage the datasets that are used for training and evaluating the ML models within the project. A dataset is a folder of storage containing arbitrary files and sub-folders1.
* Data Labeling: This tab enables you to upload raw data, annotate text data in the labeling tool (for classification or entity recognition), and use the labeled data to train ML models. It is also used by the human reviewer to re-label incorrect predictions as part of the feedback process2.
* ML Packages: This tab enables you to upload, view, and manage the ML packages and package versions within the project. An ML package is a group of package versions of the same package type, and a package version is a trained model that can be deployed to a skill3.
* Pipelines: This tab enables you to create, view, and manage the pipelines and pipeline runs within the project. A pipeline is a description of an ML workflow, including the functions and their order of execution, and a pipeline run is an execution of a pipeline based on code provided by the user4.
* ML Skills: This tab enables you to deploy, view, and manage the ML skills within the project. An ML skill is a live deployment of a package version, which can be consumed by an RPA workflow using an ML skill activity in UiPath Studio5.
* ML Logs: This tab enables you to view and filter the logs related to the project, such as the events, messages, and errors that occurred during the pipeline runs, skill deployments, and skill executions6.
