- B. OAuth 2.0 Asset Token Flow
- C. OAuth 2.0 JWT Bearer Token Flow

Answer: B

Explanation
To generate sensor information in Salesforce, the architect should recommend OAuth 2.0 Asset Token Flow.
OAuth 2.0 Asset Token Flow is a protocol that allows devices, such as sensors, to obtain an access token from Salesforce by using a certificate instead of an authorization code. The access token can be used to access Salesforce APIs and send data to Salesforce.
OAuth 2.0 Asset Token Flow is designed for devices that do not have a user interface or a web browser. References: OAuth 2.0 Asset Token Flow, Authorize Apps with OAuth

NEW QUESTION # 154
Universal Containers (UC) uses Global Shipping (GS) as one of their shipping vendors. Regional leads of GS need access to UC's Salesforce instance for reporting damage of goods using Cases. The regional leads also need access to dashboards to keep track of regional shipping KPIs. UC internally uses a third-party cloud analytics tool for capacity planning and UC decided to provide access to this tool to a subset of GS employees.
In addition to regional leads, the GS capacity planning team would benefit from access to this tool. To access the analytics tool, UC IT has set up Salesforce as the Identity provider for Internal users and would like to follow the same approach for the GS users as well. What are the most appropriate license types for GS Tregional Leads and the GS Capacity Planners? Choose 2 Answers

- A. Customer Community Plus license for GS Regional Leads and Customer Community license for GS Capacity Planners.
- B. Customer Community Plus license for GS Regional Leads and External Identity for GS Capacity Planners.
- C. Customer Community license for GS Regional Leads and Identity license for GS Capacity Planners.
- D. Identity License for GS Regional Leads and External Identity license for GS capacity Planners.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:
Explanation
The most appropriate license types for GS regional leads and the GS capacity planners are:
Customer Community Plus license for GS regional leads. This license type allows external users, such as customers or partners, to access standard Salesforce objects, such as cases and dashboards, and custom objects in a community. This license type also supports role hierarchy, sharing rules, and reports.
This license type is suitable for GS regional leads who need to report damage of goods using cases and access dashboards to track regional shipping KPIs.
External Identity license for GS capacity planners. This license type allows external users to access a limited set of standard Salesforce objects, such as contacts and documents, and custom objects in a community. This license type also supports identity features, such as single sign-on (SSO) and social sign-on. This license type is suitable for GS capacity planners who need to access the third-party cloud analytics tool using Salesforce as the identity provider.
The other options are not appropriate license types for this scenario. Customer Community license for GS capacity planners would not allow them to access the third-party cloud analytics tool using SSO, as this license type does not support identity features.

Identity license for GS regional leads would not allow them to access cases and dashboards in the community, as this license type does not support standard Salesforce objects.

- B. Require the use of Salesforce security Tokens on password.
- C. Enforce mutual Authentication between systems using SSL.
- D. Set up a proxy server for the login service in the DMZ.

Explanation
To enable a trusted connection between the login services and Salesforce, UC should enforce mutual authentication between systems using SSL. Mutual authentication is a process in which both parties in a communication verify each other's identity using certificates7. SSL (Secure Sockets Layer) is a protocol that provides secure communication over the Internet using encryption and certificates8. By using mutual authentication with SSL, UC can ensure that only authorized login services can access Salesforce and vice versa.
