Transportation Management Overview and Fundamentals

NEW QUESTION # 31

You are implementing a side-by-side scenario integrating sales orders and outbound deliveries to SAP Transportation Management. Sales order integration has created 30 freight units for 1 sales order (1 freight unit per sales order item). During planning, the freight units have been assigned to 3 trucks (10 freight units on each truck). Based on this planning result, delivery creation is triggered. During packaging, up to 3 items can be packed into 1 case. What is the minimum number of freight units that exist in SAP Transportation Management at the end of this process?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 32

You need to plan freight units with multiple stages. In which master data object would you define different carriers for the different stages of your freight units?

- A. Carrier profile
- B. Transportation lane

- C. Schedule
- D. Default route

Answer: B

Explanation:

In SAP S/4HANA Transportation Management, to plan freight units with multiple stages and assign different carriers to each stage, you define the carriers in the transportation lane (C). According to the SAP documentation, transportation lanes specify the valid carriers for specific routes or stages, including multi-leg scenarios. By configuring different carriers for each stage within the transportation lane, the system ensures that the appropriate carrier is assigned during planning for each leg of the transport.

The other options are incorrect:

* Schedule (A) defines departure times and carriers for regular transports but is not used for stage-specific carrier assignments in freight units.

* Default route (B) is used for simplified routing but does not support detailed stage-specific carrier assignments.

* Carrier profile (D) contains carrier attributes but does not define stage-specific assignments for freight units.
